This finding aid has been prepared by the National Archives as part of its program of facilitating the use of records in its custody.

The microfilm described in this guide may be consulted at the National Archives where it is identified as Microcopy No. T-315. A price list appears on the last pages. Those desiring to purchase microfilm should write to the Exhibits and Publications Division, National Archives, Washington, D. C. 20408.

Some of the papers reproduced on the microfilm referred to in this and other guides of the same series may have been of private origin. The fact of their seizure is not believed to divest their original owners of any literary property rights in them. Anyone, therefore, who publishes them in whole or in part without permission of their authors may be held liable for infringement of such literary property rights.

PREFACE

This Guide is one of a series of finding aids describing the declassified seized German records deposited in the National Archives. The series was initiated by the Microfilming Project of the Committee for the Study of War Documents of the American Historical Association in cooperation with the National Archives and the Department of the Army. With the termination of the Microfilming Project in July 1963, the National Archives assumed sole responsibility for the reproduction of records and the preparation of Guides.

This is one of a number of Guides projected to describe the records of the German Army field commands. These records are being microfilmed in five groups: Records of Army Groups, Records of Armies, Records of Corps, Records of Divisions, and Occupation and Other Records.

Constituting Part I of division records, this Guide describes the contents of 303 microfilm rolls reproducing the records for the World War II period (with some earlier records) of the following twenty-seven divisions:

1st Infantry
1st Panzer
1st Light Infantry
1st Light Mountain
1st Mountain
1st Parachute
1st Cavalry
1st Air Force Field
2nd Motorized
2nd Panzer
2nd Mountain
2nd Parachute
3rd Panzer
3rd Panzer Grenadier
3rd Mountain
3rd Parachute
3rd Air Force Field
4th Infantry
4th Panzer
4th Light Infantry
4th Mountain
4th Parachute
5th Infantry
5th Panzer
5th Light Infantry
5th Mountain
5th Parachute

Included are materials on the campaigns in Poland and in the West, 1939-40, 1944-45; the occupation of France and other Western European areas; military operations in Hungary, Italy, Norway, the Soviet Union, and the Baltic States; the occupation of and anti-partisan operations in the Balkans; and the defense of the Reich. With the exception of duplicates, all unclassified records of the twenty-seven divisions were filmed. German divisions were often renamed or renumbered; generally, the records for the same unit under such other names or numbers have been organized and filmed under the other designation. It was not always practical to do this, however. In fact, in some instances, individual folders would have had to be broken up. The researcher, therefore, must check the records of both predecessor and successor commands.

The provenance to which the documents are attributed is the division headquarters that originally kept the file, although a large proportion of the items had in fact been retired by the units to the Heeresarchiv Potsdam for permanent retention. There an accession number was stamped or written on the cover, and it is by this numbering system that the folders were organized in the World War II Records Division and its predecessor, the Departmental Records Branch of the Department of the Army. All folders that had not gone through the Heeresarchiv accessioning process before capture or had never been retired to the Heeresarchiv were given folder numbers in an extension of the

Heeresarchiv system using numbers above 75000, but otherwise following the Potsdam pattern. Considerable information on the fate of all German military records during World War II, and especially on several fires with subsequent efforts to reconstruct the files, may be found in the records of the Chef der Heeresarchiv in the German Army High Command. (These records were filmed in T-78, Rolls 1 - 38, and are described in Guide No. 12 of this series.)

The descriptive material for the divisions was prepared on cards and each card has been filmed before the folder it describes. The cards for all folders on one roll of film are also filmed at the beginning of that roll. This Guide contains the text of the cards.

A short unit history and an organization index by staff section (Abteilung) precede the file item listing for each division. The unit history has also been filmed at the beginning of each roll of the unit's records.

The term "Roll" in the Guide refers to the sequence of the film. "1st Frame" gives the frame number of the first page of the folder. The "Item No." is the identification symbol on the original folder. The "Item" provides (a) the abbreviation of the staff section that originated the document, and (b) the title appearing on the document cover or other information providing a general idea of the contents of the item.

The original records have been returned to the Federal Republic of Germany. The microfilms have been deposited in the National Archives, Washington, D.C., 20408, as microcopy T-315.

Philip P. Brower served as Editor of the Guide. The descriptions were prepared by Cleveland Collier, Ignaz Ernst, and Dr. Julius Wildstosser under the supervision of Donald E. Spencer. Gloria F. Wheeler typed the stencils.

1. Infanterie-Division (1st Infantry Division)

The 1st Infantry Division was formed in 1934-1936 by expansion of the 1st Regiment of the old Reichswehr, which was stationed at Königsberg. Upon the outbreak of World War II in September 1939, it was engaged in the campaign in Poland. In May 1940 it participated in the campaign in the West, and in June 1941 it was transferred to the northern sector of the eastern front. The Division was heavily engaged in the fighting south of Lake Ladoga in the summer of 1943. In January 1944 it was transferred to the southern sector of the eastern front.

1. Panzer-Division (1st Panzer Division)

The 1st Panzer Division was formed at Weimar in 1935-1936. It took part in the campaign in Poland in September 1939 and in the campaign in the West in May 1940. In late 1940 it supplied Panzer Regiment 2 and cadres for forming the 16th Panzer Division and received Panzer Grenadier Regiment 113 as a replacement. The Division was transferred to the northern sector of the eastern front in June 1941 and was subsequently transferred to the central sector. In January 1943 it was sent to France and in the late spring of the same year to Greece. In August 1943 it was returned to the eastern front, southern sector. During November and December 1943 it took part in the German counteroffensive west of Kiev. In October 1944 it was transferred from the Vistula area to Hungary and was cited for distinguished action during the German counterattack at Debrecen.

1. Skijäger-Division (1st Light Mountain Division)

The 1st Light Mountain Division was originally formed in October 1943 as the 1st Ski Brigade. The conversion to the 1st Light Mountain Division took place in the summer of 1944. It fought first in the central sector of the eastern front, and then, in September 1944, in the Vistula area. In October 1944 the Division was transferred to Slovakia, and in December 1944 it withdrew into southern Poland.

1. Fallschirmjäger-Division (1st Parachute Division)

The 1st Parachute Division was formed in France in the spring of 1943. Elements of the Division were engaged on the Catania Plain in Sicily in July 1943. The Division was on the Italian front in December 1943 and was heavily engaged in the defense of Ortona. From January to May 1944, it bore the brunt of the fighting at Cassino, and throughout the summer it was continously engaged on the Italian front.

2. Panzer-Division (2nd Panzer Division)

The 2nd Panzer Division was formed at Würzburg in 1936 and was transferred to Vienna in 1938, after the annexation of Austria. It took part in the campaign in Poland in September 1939 and in the campaign in the West in May 1940. Late in 1940 it supplied Panzer Regiment 4 and cadres for forming the 13th Panzer Division. In April of 1941 it participated in the Balkan campaign and in September of the same year was sent to the central sector of the eastern front. In the summer of 1943 it was in the Kursk offensive. During the winter of 1943-1944 it was engaged on the middle Dnepr where it suffered very heavy losses. Subsequently it was transferred to the Somme area of France for rest and refitting. In the spring of 1944 it was in the Arras area. In June of the same year it was in the Normandy battle. Later it was continuously engaged during the withdrawal from France. In September of 1944 it was re-formed at Wittlich in the Eifel area. In December of 1944 it spearheaded the southern prong of the Ardennes counter-offensive where heavy losses were suffered.

2. Fallschirmjäger-Division (2nd Parachute Division)

The 2nd Parachute Division was formed in France in the summer of 1943. In the autumn of the same year it was transferred to Italy and completed its formation in the Rome area. Elements of the Division took part in operations to regain control of the outer Aegean Islands after the defection of Italy. In November 1943 the Division was transferred to the eastern front, southern sector. Late in 1943 it suffered heavy losses in the Zhitomir area. Early in 1944 it was transferred to Germany for reforming. In the spring of 1944 it was transferred to France, Brittany area, and later in the same year was partly engaged in Normandy and then in Brittany. It was destroyed at Brest in September 1944.

2. Gebirgs-Division (2nd Mountain Division)

The 2nd Mountain Division was formed in 1938 after the annexation of Austria. It was engaged in the campaigns against Poland in 1939 and Norway in 1940. In June 1941 it was in Lapland. The rest of the summer of 1941 the Division was in the Murmansk sector where it suffered heavy losses. It withdrew to Norway in the winter of 1941-1942. It returned to the Petsamo area in northern Finland in 1942 and remained there until October 1944, when it again withdrew across northern Finland into Norway. In January 1945 it was transferred (via Denmark) to southern Alsace (Colmar area).

3. Panzer-Division (3rd Panzer Division)

The 3rd Panzer Division was formed in 1936 at the Wünsdorf maneuver area, Wehrkreis III, with headquarters at Berlin. It comprised Panzer Regiments 5 and 6 and Panzer Grenadier Regiment 3. The Division was in Poland in September 1939 and in the West in May 1940. In late 1940 Panzer Regiment 5 and other cadres were withdrawn to form the 5th Light Motorized Division (later renamed the 21st Panzer Division). Panzer Grenadier Regiment 394 was added to the 3rd Panzer Division. In June 1941 the Division fought on the eastern front, central sector, and was subsequently transferred to the southern sector. In November-December 1942 the Division suffered heavy losses in the Mozdok area. In the summer of 1943 it was heavily engaged in the Kharkov area; in the autumn of the same year it was in the Dnepr bend area. In the summer of 1944 the Division was engaged in Poland and in December of that year it was transferred to the Budapest area.

3. Panzer-Grenadier-Division (3rd Panzer Grenadier Division)

The 3rd Panzer Grenadier Division was formed about 1934 as the 3rd Infantry Division by expansion of the 8th Regiment (Frankfurt on the Oder) of the old Reichswehr. At the outbreak of World War II in September 1939 it fought first in Poland, and then in the West. In the autumn of 1940 it was reorganized as the 3rd Panzer Grenadier Division and in June 1941 again sent to the eastern front where at the beginning it was engaged in fighting in the central and subsequently in the southern sector. The Division was virtually destroyed in January 1943 in the battle of Stalingrad. In the spring of the same year it was reformed in southwest France and in June 1943 transferred to Italy where it fought on the Italian front.

3. Gebirgs-Division (3rd Mountain Division)

The 3rd Mountain Division was formed in 1938 at Graz after the annexation of Austria. The Division was engaged in fighting in Poland and Norway during the years 1939-1940. Then in June 1941 it was transferred to Lapland, and in the autumn of 1942 it was transferred to the Baltic States. Early in 1943 the Division fought on the southern sector of the eastern front. In the summer of 1943 it withdrew from the Mius and in the autumn of the same year it was engaged in the Zaporozhe area. In March 1944 it suffered heavy losses and took part in the withdrawal from the lower Dnepr. From April to December 1944 the Division fought in the Carpathians and on the northern Hungarian sector.

4. Panzer Division (4th Panzer Division)

The 4th Panzer Division was formed in 1938. It fought in Poland in September 1939, and in May 1940 it took part in the campaign in the West. In later 1940 the Division supplied some units for forming the 14th Panzer Division. In June 1941 it was transferred to the central sector of the eastern front. In the summer of 1943 it took part in the Kursk offensive. During the Russian offensive in the autumn of 1943 the Division fought in the Gomel area and was continuously engaged on the central sector during the winter of 1943-1944.

5. Infanterie Division (5th Infantry Division)

The 5th Infantry Division was formed in 1934 or 1935 by expansion of the 14th Regiment (Konstanz) of the old Reichswehr. In May 1940 it was engaged in fighting in the West and in the summer of 941 it fought on the central sector of the eastern front where it suffered heavy losses in the Vyazma area. It was transferred to France in December 1941 and reformed as the 5th Light Infantry Division.

5. Leichte-und Jäger-Division (5th Light Infantry Division)

The 5th Light Infantry Division was formed in 1934 or 1935 as the 5th Infantry Division by expansion of the 14th Regiment (Konstanz) of the old Reichswehr. In May 1940 it was engaged in fighting in the West and in the summer of 1941 it fought on the central sector of the eastern front where it suffered heavy losses in the Vyazma area. After its transfer to France in December 1941, the division was reformed as the 5th Light Infantry Division, known for a time as the 5. Leichte and then as the 5. Jäger Division. In February 1942 it was again sent to the eastern front where it took part in battles in the northern sector. It remained there, mostly in the Staraya Russia area, until late 1943. In early 1944 the division fought on the central sector of the eastern front after having given personnel to the 272nd Infantry Division.

5. Panzer Division (5th Panzer Division)

The 5th Panzer Division was formed in November 1938 after the annexation of the Sudeten areas. It was made up of Panzer Regiments 15 and 31 and Panzer Grenadier Regiments 13 and 14. It was engaged in the campaign against Poland in September 1939. In May 1940 it took a prominent part in the campaign in the West. Late in 1940 it provided cadres for forming the 15th Panzer Regiment and the 11th Panzer Division. It participated in the campaign in the Balkans in April 1941. In June of 1941 it was transferred to the eastern front, central sector, where it was continuously engaged. It suffered heavy losses during the Kursk offensive in the summer of 1943, and in the autumn of 1943 it was engaged west of the middle Dnepr.

5. Gebirgs-Division (5th Mountain Division)

The 5th Mountain Division was formed in the autumn of 1940. In April 1941 it was heavily engaged in fighting in the Balkans. Later, in May 1941, it took part in the airborne attack on Crete. For the rest of the year 1941 the Division remained in the Aegean area. In early 1942 it was transferred to the northern sector of the eastern front where, especially in the Leningrad area, it suffered heavy losses.

5. Fallschirmjäger-Division (5th Parachute Division)

The 5th Parachute Division was formed early in 1944 in France. In the spring of 1944 it was in Brittany. In July 1944 it was engaged in the Normandy battle, where it suffered very heavy losses, and subsequently it was transferred to northern Holland and to Germany for rest and refitting. In November 1944 the Division was transferred back to the western front, Eifel area. It took part in the Ardennes counteroffensive in December 1944.

Price List for Records of German Field Commands: Divisions (Part I)

National Archives Microcopy No. T-315, Rolls 1-303

Microfilm copies of one or more rolls of the microfilm may be purchased at the prices listed below. The prices are based on a charge of 8 cents for each foot of microfilm, with all prices rounded off to the nearest dollar. A 10-percent discount is given on orders for more than $1,000 and a 15-percent discount on orders for more than $3,000.

Rolls containing privileged material are designated by the symbol R before the roll number. They are not available for sale and are therefore not included in this list.

Checks or money orders for microfilm should accompany the order. They should be made payable to the General Services Administration (NCE) and should be sent to the National Archives, Washington, D.C. 20408. Persons ordering microfilm from outside the United States or its possessions should make their remittance by international money order or check drawn in United States dollars on a bank in the United States and payable to the General Services Administration (NCE). Each order should specify the microcopy number (T-315), the roll number or numbers, and the price.

GUIDES TO GERMAN RECORDS MICROFILMED AT ALEXANDRIA, VA.

No. 45. Records of German Field Commands: Divisions (Part II)

The National Archives
National Archives and Records Service
General Services Administration

Washington: 1964

This finding aid has been prepared by the National Archives as part of its program of facilitating the use of records in its custody.

The microfilm described in this guide may be consulted at the National Archives, where it is identified as Microcopy No. T-315. A price list appears on the last pages. Those desiring to purchase microfilm should write to the Exhibits and Publications Division, National Archives, Washington, D.C. 20408.

Some of the papers reproduced on the microfilm referred to in this and other guides of the same series may have been of private origin. The fact of their seizure is not believed to divest their original owners of any literary property rights in them. Anyone, therefore, who publishes them in whole or in part without permission of their authors may be held liable for infringement of such literary property rights.

PREFACE

This Guide is one of a series of finding aids describing the declassified seized German records deposited in the National Archives. The series was initiated by the Microfilming Project of the Committee for the Study of War Documents of the American Historical Association in cooperation with the National Archives and the Department of the Army. With the termination of the Microfilming Project in July 1963, the National Archives assumed sole responsibility for the reproduction of records and the preparation of Guides.

This is one of a number of Guides projected to describe the records of the German Army field commands. These records are being microfilmed in five groups: Records of Army Groups, Records of Armies, Records of Corps, Records of Divisions, and Occupation and Other Records.

Constituting Part II of division records, this Guide describes the contents of 242 microfilm rolls reproducing the records for the World War II period of the following twelve divisions:

6th Infantry
6th Mountain
6th Air Force Field
7th Infantry
7th Panzer
7th Mountain
7th Parachute
8th Light Infantry
8th Panzer
9th Infantry
9th Panzer

Included are materials on the campaigns in France, Belgium, Finland, Poland and the Soviet Union; and on the occupation of France, the mainland of Greece and the Isle of Crete. German divisions were often renamed or renumbered; generally, the records for the same unit under such other names or numbers have been organized and filmed under the other designation. It was not always practical to do this, however. In fact, in some instances, individual folders would have had to be broken up. The researcher, therefore, must check the records of both predecessor and successor commands.

The provenance to which the documents are attributed is the division headquarters that originally kept the file, although a large proportion of the items had in fact been retired by the units to the Heeresarchiv Potsdam for permanent retention. There an accession number was stamped or written on the cover, and it is by this numbering system that the folders were organized in the World War II Records Division and its predecessor, the Departmental Records Branch of the Department of the Army. All folders that had not gone through the Heeresarchiv accessioning process before capture or had never been retired to the Heeresarchiv were given folder numbers in an extension of the Heeresarchiv system using numbers above 75000, but otherwise following the Potsdam pattern. Considerable information on the fate of all German military records during World War II, and especially on several fires with subsequent efforts to reconstruct the files, may be found in the records of the Chef der Heeresarchiv in the German Army High Command. (These records were filmed in T-78, Rolls 1-38, and are described in Guide No. 12 of this series.)

The descriptive material for the divisions was prepared on cards and each card has been filmed before the folder it describes. The cards for all folders on one roll of film are also filmed at the beginning of that roll. This Guide contains the text of the cards.

A short unit history and an organization index by staff section (Abteilung) precede the file item listing for each division. The unit history has also been filmed at the beginning of each roll of the unit's records.

The term "Roll" in the Guide refers to the sequence of the film. "1st Frame" gives the frame number of the first page of the folder. The "Item No." is the identification symbol on the original folder. The "Itwm" provides (a) the abbreviation of the staff section that originated the document, and (b) the title appearing on the document cover or other information providing a general idea of the contents of the item.

The original records have been returned to the Federal Republic of Germany. The microfilms have been deposited in the National Archives, Washington, D.C., 20408, as microcopy T-315.

Philip P. Brower served as Editor of the Guide. The descriptions were prepared by Ignaz Ernst, Dr. Julius Wildstosser, and Cleveland Collier under the supervision of Donald E. Spencer. Gloria F. Wheeler typed the stencils.

6. Infanterie-Division (6th Infantry Division)

The 6th Infantry Division was formed during the period 1934-35 by expansion of the 18th Regiment (Rielefeld) of the old Reichswehr. In May 1940 it was engaged in the campaign in the West. It was transferred to the central sector of the Eastern front in June 1941, and in the summer of 1943 it took part in the Kursk offensive.

6. Panzer-Division (6th Panzer Division)

The 6th Panzer Division was formed during the period 1936-37 at Wuppertal as the 1st Light Infantry Division. It fought in the campaign in Poland in September 1939, and after conversion to the 6th Panzer Division in the winter of 1939-40, it participated in the campaign in the West in May 1940. In June 1941 the Division was transferred to the Eastern front where it saw action first in the northern and later in the central sector. It suffered heavy losses and was shipped to France in May 1942 for rest and refitting. In December 1942 the Division returned to the Eastern front where it was engaged in the southern sector. In the summer of 1943 it took part in the Belgorod offensive and in the winter of 1943-44 it was continuously engaged during the Soviet counteroffensive. The withdrawal across the northern Ukraine in March 1944 caused heavy losses. The Division was then reformed and transferred to the central sector of the Eastern front where it was engaged in defensive actions during the Soviet summer offensive.

6. Gebirgs-Division (6th Mountain Division)

The 6th Mountain Division was activated during the winter of 1939-1940. It was engaged in the campaign in the West in 1940. In April of 1941 it was in Greece and took prominent part in the advance on Salonika. In May of 1941 elements of the Division participated in the airborne attack on Crete, and later in the summer of 1941 it was transferred from Greece to Finland.

7. Panzer-Division (7th Panzer Division)

The 7th Panzer Division was formed in 1938 at Gera as the 2nd Light Division. It fought in the campaign in Poland in September 1939. In the winter of 1939-1940 it was converted into the 7th Panzer Division. In May 1940 it fought in the West under Rommel's command. It was transferred to the Eastern front in June 1941 and was continuously and heavily engaged on the central sector of that front. The Division was returned to France in May 1942 for rest and refitting. In November 1942 it took part in the occupation of southern France, and in February 1943 it was transferred to the southern sector of the Eastern front. In the summer of 1943 the Division participated in the Belgorod offensive and especially in the battles in the Kiev and Zhitomir areas. In the withdrawal actions west of Kiev in November 1943 it suffered heavy losses. In March 1944 the Division participated in the retreat across the northern Ukraine and in July 1944 it was engaged on the central sector during the Soviet summer offensive. The Division fought in August 1944 at Raseiniai, Lithuania, and in January 1945, during the Soviet winter offensive, it was heavily engaged west of the Vistula.

7. Fallschirmjäger Division (7th Parachute Division)

The 7th Parachute Division was formed in the autumn of 1944 as "Division Erdmann" from a number of previously existing regiments. In November 1944 it was in Holland and was designated as the 7th Parachute Division. It was engaged in Eastern Holland, Venlo area. In January 1945 the Division was transferred to northern Alsace, Hagenau area. Shortly afterwards it was sent north to the Kleve area.

8. Jäger-Division (8th Light Infantry Division)

This Division (1st wave) was formed in October 1935 as the 8th Infantry Division after the introduction of universal military conscription. It received cadres from the 18th Division. It contained the 28th, 38th and 84th Regiments. The Division took part in the campaign in Poland and, during May 1940, in the campaign in the West. In June 1941 it was on the Eastern front where it suffered heavy losses. As of December 1, 1941 it was renamed the 8th Light Infantry Division 8. Leichte Infanterie-Division) and was transferred to France. In the spring of 1942 it was again transferred to the Eastern front, northern sector. Beginning July 1, 1942 the 8th Light Infantry Division was known as the 8. Jäger Division.

8. Panzer-Division (8th Panzer Division)

The 8th Panzer Division was formed at Cottbus in 1938 as the 3rd Light Division. It was made up of the 67th Panzer Battalion and Mechanized Cavalry Regiments 8 and 9. It was engaged in the campaign against Poland in 1939. In the winter of 1939-1940 it was converted into the 8th Panzer Division. In May of 1940 it took part inthe campaign in the West. In April 1941 the Division was transferred to Yugoslavia. From June to the winter of 1941 it was heavily engaged on the Eastern front, northern sector. In the autumn of 1942 it was in the central sector of the Eastern front and in the summer of 1943 it was transferred to the southern sector after the Orel offensive. It suffered heavy losses during the withdrawal from Kiev in the autumn of 1943.

9. Infanterie-Division (9th Infantry Division)

The 9th Infantry Division (1st wave) was formed in the period 1935-36 during the expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal military service in March 1935. After the outbreak of World War II, it fought first in France in May 1940. In June 1941 it was shipped to the Eastern front where it was engaged in the southern sector. From the summer of 1942 until the summer of 1943 the Division saw action in the Caucasus and subsequently withdrew to the Kuban area. In the autumn of 1943 it took part in the defense of the lower Dnepr area, and when it withdrew through Rumania in 1944 it suffered heavy losses. The remanants of the Division withdrew in October 1944 to the Wildflecken maneuver area, (Wehrkreis IX) for reorganization as a Volksgrenadier Division (32nd wave). In late October 1944 the Division left for Denmark, Holsted area, for further training and was then transferred to the western front, Luxemburg area, where it suffered heavy losses in the Ardennes counteroffensive.

9. Panzer-Division (9th Panzer Division)

The 9th Panzer Division was formed as the 4th Light Division in 1938, following the annexation of Austria. In March 1939 it took part in the occupation of Czechoslovakia. Upon the outbreak of World War II in September 1939 it fought in Poland. After its conversion into the 9th Panzer Division in the winter of 1939-1940, it was engaged in the campaign in the West in May 1940 and in the Balkans in April 1941. In May 1941 it was shifted to the southern sector of the Eastern front. It participated in the German summer offensive in 1942. The Division was transferred to the central sector in the summer of 1943 in order to take part in the Kursk offensive. After its return to the southern sector in the autumn of 1943, it was heavily engaged in battles in the Dnepr bend. In March 1944 the losses of the Division were so high that its remnants were transferred to southern France where, with other personnel, a rebuilding of the Division took place. Thereafter it remained on the Western front.

Price List for Records of German Field Commands: Divisions (Part II)

National Archives Microcopy No. T-315, Rolls 304-545.

Microfilm copies of one or more rolls of the microfilm may be purchased at the prices listed below. The prices are based on a charge of 8 cents for each foot of microfilm, with all prices rounded off to the nearest dollar. A 10-percent discount is given on orders for more than $1,000 and a 15-percent discount on orders for more than $3,000.

Checks or money orders for microfilm should accompany the order. They should be made payable to the General Services Administration (NCE) and should be sent to the National Archives, Washington, D.C. 20408. Persons ordering microfilm from outside the United States or its possessions should make their remittance by international money order or check drawn in United States dollars on a bank in the United States and payable to the General Services Administration (NCE). Each order should specify the microcopy number (T-315), the roll number or numbers, and the price.

PREFACE

The Guides to German Records Microfilmed at Alexandria, Va. constitute a series of finding aids describing National Archives microfilm that reproduces seized records of German central, regional, and local government agencies, and of military commands and units, as well as of the Nazi Party, its formations, affiliated associations, and supervised organizations. The records described in the Guides were created generally during the period from 1920 to 1945.

The series was initiated by the Microfilming Project of the Committee for the Study of War Documents of the American Historical Association in cooperation with the National Archives and the Department of the Army. With the termination of AHA participation in July 1963, the National Archives assumed sole responsibility for the reproduction of records and the preparation of Guides.

This Guide is one of many in the series describing the records of the German Army field commands which have been arranged by unit and filmed in discrete microcopies according to their military echelon as follows: Army Groups (Microcopy T-311), Armies (T-312), Panzer Armies (T-313), Corps (T-314), Divisions (T-315), and Rear Areas, Occupied Territories, and Others (T-501).

Guide No. 63 (designated Part III of Guides to records of German Army divisions--Parts I and II being Guides 41 and 45) describes the contents of 254 rolls of Microcopy No. T-315 reproducing records of divisions numbered 10 through 21 and a few additional records of divisions numbered 1 to 9 not available when Guides 41 and 45 were issued. Future Guides will describe records of divisions numbered above 21. The records in Guide 63 include material on the march into Austria and the Sudetenland in 1938, the march into Czechoslovakia in 1939, the campaign in Poland in 1939, the campaign in Norway in 1940, the Balkan campaign in 1941, the campaign in Crete in 1941, the North African campaign from 1941 to 1943, the campaign against the Soviet Union from 1941 to 1945, operations in Finland in 1941 and 1942, the campaign in Sicily and Italy in 1943 and 1944, and the western campaigns in 1940 and 1944-45. Also included are records covering the training of Rumanian Army units in 1940 and 1941 and occupation duty in Poland in 1940 and 1941, in France and Belgium from 1940 to 1943, and in the Aegean Islands and Greece in 1943 and 1944.

The provenance to which each record item is attributed is the unit headquarters that created it (i.e., kept it on file), although a large proportion of the items had in fact already been retired to depositories of the Heeresarchiv Potsdam. There accession numbers were assigned and stamped or written on the covers in the order received, and the records were then cataloged by unit in the so-called "Potsdam Catalog." By the time the records reached the United States, they were in rough arrangement by unit. The National Archives has retained this system inherited from its various American predecessor organizations, taking advantage of the circumstance that the original Potsdam catalogs were acquired along with the seized field command records. The AHA and National Archives also followed this arrangement in their joint and separate microfilm projects; however, some record items were filmed out of sequence because of subsequent declassification or the discovery of previously mislaid or temporarily unavailable material, which accounts for the occasional break in continuity of roll numbers in the Guides. Record items not yet retired to the Heeresarchiv depositories at the time of capture were assigned accession numbers above 75,000 by American custodians in extension of the original Potsdam numbering scheme.

Considerable information on the fate of Germany's military archives during World War II, including documentation of efforts to reconstruct records destroyed in several wartime fires, may be found in the files of the Chef des Heeresarchivs, OKH, filmed as Microcopy T-78, Rolls 1-38 and described in Guide No. 12 of the series.

Although the records of these divisions have been filmed selectively, the war journals (Kriegstagebücher) and activity reports (Tätigkeitsberichte) and their annexes (Anlagen) of the Operations (Ia) and Intelligence (Ic) staff sections, wherever available, were filmed in entirety. A few records of the Supply, Personnel, Medical, and Veterinary staff sections assigned to division headquarters were filmed for those units whose operations and intelligence files were incomplete or missing. Map annexes (Kartenanlagen) consisting exclusively of large maps difficult to put on microfilm were generally omitted; maps interspersed among and integrated with the textual records were filmed in several overlapping sections, which, along with the loss of color markings, detracts considerably from their value and ease of use.

A unit history precedes the file item listing for each division. These histories are a revised and expanded form of the shorter unit histories filmed at the beginning of every roll reproducing the records of each unit. The unit histories are based on information found in the records, in the Potsdam catalogs, and on contemporary German daily situation maps, supplementing or correcting the brief histories given in the Order of Battle of the German Army, War Department, Washington, March 1945. A data card describing each filmed record item has been filmed immediately preceding the folder it describes, and the cards for all folders on one roll of film are again filmed as a finding aid at the beginning of that roll. The information contained on these cards was used as a reference in compiling descriptive entries for the Guide, but considerable revision was undertaken because so many of these card descriptions were prepared hastily to maintain pace with filming and restitution schedules.

The term "Roll" in the Guide refers to the sequence of the film; "1st Frame" gives the frame number of the first page of the folder; "Item No." is the identification symbol on the original folder. The "Item" provides (a) the abbreviation of the staff section that originated the document, (b) the title appearing on the folder cover, and (c) additional information providing a general description of the contents. The inclusive dates of the file item are given under a "Date" column.

The original records, filmed and unfilmed, have been returned to the Federal Republic of Germany for deposit in the Bundesarchiv-Militärarchiv in Freiburg. The master negatives of Microcopy T-315 have been deposited with the Publications Sales Branch, National Archives, Washington, D.C. 20408, from which copies of specific rolls may be purchased. Reference copies may be consulted in the microfilm reading room of the National Archives. For suggestions for citing microfilm see page 142.

The descriptions in this Guide were prepared by Anton F. Grassl, George Wagner, Petronilla Hawes, Cleveland E. Collier, Ignaz Ernst, and Dr. Julius Wildstosser under the supervision of Donald E. Spencer.

1. Panzer-Division (1st Panzer Division)*

The 1. Panzer-Division was formed at Weimar in 1935-36. It took part in the campaign in Poland in September 1939 and in the western campaign in May 1940. Later in 1940 the division released Panzer-Regiment 2 and cadres for forming the 16. Panzer-Division and received Panzergrenadier-Regiment 113 as a replacement. The division was transferred to the northern sector of the eastern front in June 1941 and was subsequently transferred to the central sector. In January 1943 it was sent to France and in the late spring of the same year, to Greece. In August 1943 it was returned to the eastern front, southern sector. It took part in the German counteroffensive west of Kiev in November and December 1943. In October 1944 it was transferred from the Vistula River area to Hungary and was cited for distinguished action during the German counterattack at Debrecen.

6. Panzer-Division (6th Panzer Division)*

This division was formed during the period 1936-37 at Wuppertal as the 1. Jäger-Division. It fought in the campaign in Poland in September 1939, and after it was converted to the 6. Panzer-Division in the winter 1939-40, it participated in the western campaign in May 1940. The division was transferred in June 1941 to the eastern front, seeing action first in the northern sector and later in the central sector where it suffered heavy losses and was shipped to France in May 1942 for rest and refitting. In December 1942 the division returned to the eastern front, where it was engaged in the southern sector. In the summer of 1943 it took part in the Belgorod offensive, and in the winter of 1943-44 it was continuously engaged during the Soviet counteroffensive. Reformed and transferred to the central sector of the eastern front after the withdrawal across the northern Ukraine in March 1944, it was engaged in defensive operations during the Soviet summer offensive.

This division was formed in 1938 at Gera as the 2. Jäger Division. It fought in the campaign in Poland in September 1939. In the winter of 1939-40 it was converted to the 7. Panzer-Division and fought in the western campaign from May 1940 under Rommel's command. It was transferred to the central sector of the eastern front in June 1941, where it was continuously and heavily engaged. The division was returned to France in May 1942 for rest and refitting and in November 1942 it took part in the occupation of southern France. In February 1943 it was transferred to the southern sector of the eastern front, participating in the Belgorod offensive in the summer of 1943, especially in the battles in the Kiev and Zhitomir areas. Suffering heavy losses in withdrawal actions west of Kiev in November 1943, the division retreated in March 1944 across the northern Ukraine. In July 1944 it was engaged in the central sector during the Soviet summer offensive. The division fought in August 1944 at Raseiniai, Lithuania, and in January 1945, during the Soviet winter offensive, west of the Vistula River.

9. Infanterie-Division (9th Infantry Division)*

The 9. Infanterie-Division (1. Welle) was formed in the period 1935-36 during the expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal military service in March 1935. After the outbreak of World War II it fought in France in May 1940. In June 1941 it was transferred to the eastern front where it was engaged in the southern sector. From the summer of 1942 until the summer of 1943 the division saw action in the Caucasus and subsequently withdrew to the Kuban area. In the autumn of 1943 it took part in the defense of the Lower Dnieper area, suffering heavy losses, then withdrew in 1944 through Rumania. The remnants of the division withdrew in October 1944 to the Wildflecken maneuver area (Wehrkreis IX) for reorganization into a Volksgrenadier-Division (32. Welle). After further training in the Holsted area of Denmark in late October 1944 the division was transferred to the Luxembourg area of the western front, where it suffered heavy losses in the Ardennes counteroffensive.

10. Panzergrenadier-Division (10th Panzer Grenadier Division)*

This division was formed as the 10. Infanterie-Division in the period 1934-35 in Regensburg, Wehrkreis XIII, by expanding Infanterie-Regiment 20 of the old Reichswehr, and included Grenadier-Regimente 20, 41, and 85. The division participated in the march into Austria on March 13, 1938, into the Sudetenland on October 2, 1938, and into Czechoslovakia on March 16, 1939. It was engaged in the campaign in Poland in September 1939 after which it went to Marburg in Hesse for training. From May to September 1940 it took part in the western campaign, returning then to its home station at Regensburg, where it was refitted and converted to the 10. Infanterie-Division (mot.) on November 1, 1940, and sent from there to the maneuver area of Wildflecken in mid-February 1941. At the same time Grenadier-Regiment 85 was transferred to the 5. Gebirgs-Division. On June 5, 1941, the division entrained for Zelechow, Poland, where it participated in the campaign against Russia in the central sector from June 22. It fought in the battles of Bialystok, Minsk, Smolensk, Krichev, Gomel, Bryansk, Tula, and Orel until the summer of 1943. On May 21, 1943, the division was redesignated as the 10. Panzergrenadier-Division and was transferred in the autumn of 1943 to the southern sector, south of Kiev. It suffered heavy losses during the withdrawal across the Dniester River in August 1944. In the late autumn of 1944 the division was moved back to the central sector and was heavily engaged in Upper Silesia during the Soviet winter offensive of January 1945.

10. Panzer-Division (10th Panzer Division)

The 10. Panzer-Division was formed in the summer of 1939 in Prague. It took part in the campaign against Poland in September 1939 and in the western campaign from May 1940. Late in June 1941 the division was transferred to the eastern front where in the winter of 1941-42 it was heavily engaged in the Gzhatsk and Vyazma areas. In May 1942 it was transferred to the Amiens area of France for rest and refitting; it served as a reserve force for countering the Allied landing at Dieppe in August 1942, and in November of the same year it was moved to Toulon. In December 1942 it was transferred to Tunisia where it was destroyed in May 1943.*

11. Infanterie-Division (11th Infantry Division)

The 11. Infanterie-Division was formed in 1935 in Allenstein, Wehrkreis I, from elements of the 1. Infanterie-Division of the old Reichswehr. It was subordinate to the I. Armeekorps, as were the 1. and 21. Infanterie-Divisionen. It participated in the Polish campaign, crossing the East Prussian border into Poland near Neidenburg on September 1, 1939. After the capitulation of Warsaw the division performed occupation duty on the German-Soviet demarcation line along the Bug River. Later it was transferred to Germany for training in preparation for the western campaign. The division crossed the Belgian border on May 11, 1940, near Aachen. It pushed into France and had reached the Loire River near Saumur by the time France capitulated in June 1940. The division was in the Bayonne-Biarritz area of southwest France for occupation duty until March 1941, at which time it was transferred to East Prussia for training in preparation for the Russian campaign. On June 22, 1941, the division crossed into Soviet-occupied Lithuania near Memel and fought in the northern sector of the eastern front, advancing through Latvia, Estonia, and into the Soviet Union south of Lake Peipus. It reached the Novgorod area in August, Chudovo in September, and the Volkhov River area south of Lake Ladoga in November 1941. The division remained in the northern sector of the eastern front and was again heavily engaged south of Lake Ladoga in the summer of 1943. In August 1944 it was engaged at Narva and in September and October of that year withdrew to the Latvian coast.*

11. Panzer-Division (11th Panzer Division)

The 11. Panzer-Division was formed on August 1, 1940, from the 11. Schützen-Brigade (which had fought in the campaign in France) and from Panzer-Regiment 15. In April 1941 it fought in the Balkans and captured the city of Belgrade. The division was transferred in June 1941 to the southern sector of the eastern front, and to the central sector in October 1941. In the summer of 1942 it returned to the southern sector. A year later, in the summer of 1943, it took part in the Belgorod and Kursk offensives. In the autumn of 1943 the division was heavily engaged in the Krivoi Rog area and in February 1944 it suffered grave losses in the Korsun encirclement. Shortly afterward, in the spring of 1944, the remnants of the division were transferred to southern France, where personnel of the 273. Reserve-Panzer-Division were added to it. In July 1944 it was shifted to Toulouse and in August of the same year it took part in the delaying action after the Allied landings in southern France and in the withdrawal to Alsace. In September 1944 the division participated in the defense of the Belfort Gap and subsequently withdrew to the Saar area. It also saw action in the counteroffensive in the Ardennes in December 1944, and was engaged in the Trier area in January 1945.

It was transferred to the Rhineland in October 1939 and took part in the campaign in Belgium and northern France in May and June 1940. The division was transferred to the Bay of Biscay area in June 1940, to the English Channel area in July 1940, to Belgium in February 1941, and to East Prussia in May 1941. In June 1941 it was in the northern sector of the eastern front. In late February 1943 the division transferred to the central sector where it was destroyed in July 1944 in the Mogilev area. It was reformed in Wehrkreis XX, arrived in the Solingen area on September 15, and participated in position defense in the Düren and Eschweiler areas from September until mid-December 1944. On October 1, 1944, the division was redesignated the 12. Volksgrenadier-Division and fought in the Ardennes counteroffensive in December 1944, suffering heavy losses.*

12. Panzer-Division (12th Panzer Division)

On January 10, 1941 the 2. Infanterie-Division (mot.) was reorganized as the 12. Panzer-Division. In June 1941 it was moved to the northern sector of the eastern front where it suffered heavy losses in late 1941 and withdrew to Estonia for rest and refitting. It subsequently returned to the northern sector of the eastern front and transferred in November 1942 to the Roslavl area in the central sector. It operated in the Orel, Bryansk, Gomel, and Zhlobin areas in the summer of 1943 and took part in the defense of the middle Dnieper in the autumn of the same year. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than September 30, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that in January 1944 it was again transferred to the northern sector of the eastern front and took part in the withdrawal from the Leningrad area. The division was in the Libau area for position defense from September 1944 to April 1945.

13. Infanterie-Division (mot.) (13th Motorized Infantry Division)

The 13. Infanterie-Division consisting of Regimente 33, 66, and 93 was formed in 1935 and 1936, at the time of expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal conscription in March 1935. In 1936 and 1937 it was converted to the 13. Infanterie-Division (mot.) under the control of the XIV. Armeekorps. It participated in the campaign against Poland in September 1939 and in May 1940 it took part in the western campaign. The division was redesignated as the 13. Panzer-Division on October 9, 1940.

13. Panzer-Division (13th Panzer Division)

This division was formed from the 13. Infanterie-Division (mot.) on October 9, 1940, near Vienna, Wehrkreis XVII, and transferred to Rumania, where it was organized as Lehrstab R.I der deutschen Lehrtruppen in Rumänien, October 25, 1940, for the training of Rumanian Army units. In May 1941 it was transferred from Rumania to Germany and was again redesignated the 13. Panzer-Division. The division was transferred in June 1941 to the Polish-Russian border, where it took part in the campaign against Russia in the southern sector and in the encirclement of Kiev. In 1942 it suffered heavy losses in the Terek and Taganrog areas, transferred in the winter of 1942 to the Kuban and North Caucasus areas, and retreated in the spring of 1943 to the Taman Peninsula, crossing to Kerch in the Crimea in July 1943. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than July 30, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost and the records of OKH/Allgemeines Heeresamt, Abwicklungsstab (H 41/3, 5, 24, and 57) show that the division withdrew from September 1943 to September 1944 through the southern Ukraine and Rumania to the Carpathian Mountains. The division was refitted in October southeast of Budapest and in November and December defended Budapest, where it was finally encircled in the latter part of December 1944.

14. Infanterie-Division (14th Infantry Division)

The 14. Infanterie-Division was formed in 1934-35 in Leipzig by expansion of Grenadier-Regiment 11 of the old Reichswehr. After the outbreak of World War II in September 1939 it saw action first in Poland and, in May 1940, in the western campaign. The division was reorganized as a motorized division on November 1, 1940, and transferred to the Leipzig area. It moved to East Prussia in May 1941 and fought in the central sector of the eastern front from June 1941 to the summer of 1943. It suffered heavy losses during the battles in the Smolensk-Vitebsk area in August 1943 and was converted to a new type of division (Infanterie-Division, neuer Art) on December 1, 1943. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than December 31, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that from January through May 1944 the division took part in operations in the Vitebsk area. In June it withdrew to the AOK 4 sector for rest and refitting. In August the division withdrew to Ostroleka where it participated in position defense until the end of January 1945 and in the defense of the Braunsberg-Heiligenbeil area until it was disbanded in April 1945.*

14. Panzer-Division (14th Panzer Division)

This division was formed in 1934-35 as the 4. Infanterie-Division by expansion of Infanterie-Regiment 10 of the old Reichswehr. In September 1939 it participated in the campaign against Poland and, in May 1940, in the western campaign. On August 15, 1940, the division was reorganized as the 14. Panzer-Division. After service in Yugoslavia in April 1941, it was transferred in June 1941 to the southern sector of the eastern front, where it was continously engaged. Virtually destroyed in January 1943 at Stalingrad, the division was reformed in March 1943 in France, and in October 1943 it again was transferred to the southern sector of the eastern front, where it fought in the Dnieper River Bend area in December 1943. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than October 15, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that from January through July 1944 the division took part in operations in the Kirovograd, Zvenigorodka, Kishinevo, and Jassi areas. In August it withdrew from the front for rest and refitting and in September 1944 the division was transferred to Riga. From October 1944 to April 1945 it participated in position defense in the Libau area.

15. Infanterie-Division (15th Infantry Division)

The 15. Infanterie-Division (1. Welle) was formed in 1935-36 during expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal military service in March 1935. It was assigned to the French-German border in the Saar area from August 1939 until the campaign against France, May 10, 1940, after which it took part in occupation duties and training on the demarcation line in the Commarin area of France. In June 1941 the division was in the central sector of the eastern front, and in May 1942 it was again transferred to France. In March 1943 it returned to the eastern front, southern sector, where in the summer of the same year it suffered heavy losses in the Dnepropetrovsk area. From January through March 1944 the division participated in the defense of the Krivoi Rog and Kirovograd areas. It then withdrew and took part in position defense in the Tiraspol-Bendery area until it was encircled at the end of August. The division was reformed in Hungary in October 1944 and participated in operations in the Nyiregyhaza and Miskolc areas until the end of December 1944. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than December 31, 1944, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that in January 1945 the division withdrew to Slovakia and took part in position defense in the Zvolen-Banska Bystrica area until April 1945.*

15. Panzer-Division (15th Panzer Division)

This division was formed in 1935-36 as the 33. Infanterie-Division during the expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal military service in March 1935 and included Infanterie-Regimente 104, 110, and 115. In May 1940 it participated in the western campaign. In the autumn of 1940 it was converted to the 15. Panzer-Division, transferring Infanterie-Regiment 110 to the 112. Infanterie-Division and adding Panzer-Regiment 8. The division was then transferred to Libya in the spring of 1941, and Infanterie-Regiment 104 was assigned to the 21. Panzer-Division. It fought in various campaigns in Libya and Egypt, and in the spring of 1943 it entered Tunisia where it was virtually destroyed in May 1943. According to situation maps Süd-West and the Order of Battle of the German Army the 15. Panzer-Division was reconstituted in July 1943 as Division "Sizilien" and was later redesignated the 15. Panzergrenadier-Division.

16. Infanterie-Division (16th Infantry Division)

This division was formed in 1935-36 during the expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal military service in March 1935. It guarded the Luxembourg border from August 25, 1939, to May 1940, when the division took part in the western campaign. According to situation maps of Lage West it crossed Luxembourg and the Ardennes area in Belgium and engaged in position defense in the Raucourt and Charleville areas of France until June 10, 1940, and then in offensive operations in the Verdun, Toul, Nancy, and Epinal areas. According to the Potsdam catalog, the division transferred to Wehrkreis VI on July 4, 1940, where it was converted to the 16. Panzer-Division on August 2, 1940.*

16. Infanterie-Division (mot.) (16th Motorized Infantry Division)

The 16. Infanterie-Division (mot.) was activated on August 6, 1940, in Münster, Wehrkreis VI, when the 16. Infanterie-Division was converted to the 16. Panzer-Division and Panzergrenadier-Regiment 60 was assigned to the new motorized division. It organized and trained in the Cologne, Wuppertal, Düsseldorf, and Krefeld areas until December 6, 1940, then moved to the Rouen and Mantes-Gassicourt areas for occupation duty. In March 1941 it transferred from France to Yugoslavia via Graz, Austria, where it participated in April in the Balkan campaign in the Zagreb, Brod, Dubica, and Sarajevo areas. The division was transferred on April 28-30, 1941, to the Kielce and Zamosc areas in Poland. On June 22, 1941, it began operations on the eastern front, in the southern sector, from the Zamosc area to Nikopol via Dubno, Berdichev, Belaya Tserkov, Uman, Kirovograd, and Krivoi Rog. The division then moved northward to the Kursk area via Kremenchug, Romny, Konotop, Rylsk, Dmitriyev-Lgovski, and Fatezh. From the fall of 1941 to the spring of 1942 it participated in defensive actions in the Kursk, Tim, and Oboyan areas. According to situation maps of Heeresgruppe Süd the division took part in offensive operations in the Voronezh area during the summer of 1942. It then moved southward and engaged in position defense in the Slavyansk, Mariupol, and Taganrog areas from the fall of 1942 to the spring of 1943. On May 22, 1943, the 16. Infanterie-Division (mot.) was converted to the 16. Panzergrenadier-Division. During the summer of 1943 it participated in operations in the Zaporozhe area. The division was destroyed in the Bug River area west of Uman in the spring of 1944. According to situation maps of Lage West remnants of the division arrived in the area south of Beauvais, France, on April 12, 1944, and were converted to the 116. Panzer-Division on April 14, 1944.

16. Infanterie-Division (Volksgrenadier) (16th Infantry Division /Volks Grenadier/)

A new 16. Infanterie-Division was activated from units of the 158. Reserve-Division on August 6, 1944, in Cholet, France. Although there are no records of the division available dated before November 29, 1944, the situation maps of Lage West show that the division moved to the area south of Nancy in September 1944 and was converted to the 16. Volksgrenadier-Division in October 1944. The division participated in position defense southeast of Nancy until early 1945 and was in the Strasbourg area in March and until April 4, 1945, when it crossed the Rhine River, defended the West Wall, and retreated to the Karlsruhe and Bruchsal areas.

16. Panzer-Division (16th Panzer Division)

The 16. Panzer-Division was formed on August 2, 1940, in Wehrkreis VI by conversion of the 16. Infanterie-Division into an armored division and moved to Kassel, Wehrkreis IX, on October 8, 1940, where it trained as a mobile unit. On Dec 6, 1940, the division was transferred to Rumania as a training unit for the Rumanian Army with the code name "Lehrstab R II" and was subordinate to the Deutsche Heeresmission in Rumänien, Bucharest. It returned to Germany in March 1941. According to situation maps of Heeresgruppen Süd and B, the 16. Panzer-Division was in the southern sector of the eastern front in June 1941 and advanced to the Stalingrad area via Lvov, Pervomaisk, Zaporozhe, Taganrog, Makeevka, and Artemovsk. It was encircled at Stalingrad and destroyed in January 1943. In March 1943 the 16. Panzer-Division was reactivated in France and equipped and trained in the Vitre, Mayenne, and Laval areas until June 1943, when it was sent to the Turin area in Italy. The division was a reserve unit in the vicinity of Siena until September 1943. It was then transferred to the Salerno area for defense against the Allied invasion. On November 28, 1943, Kampfgruppe Berger took over its sector and the division was transferred to Russia. According to situation maps of Heeresgruppen Mitte and Süd, the division arrived at Bobruisk on December 13, 1943, and took part in defensive engagements in the Parichi area. On December 29, 1943, it was transferred to the southern sector for defensive operations and withdrew to Poland during the summer of 1944.

17. Infanterie-Division (17th Infantry Division)*

The 17. Infanterie-Division was formed in 1934-35 in Nuremberg by expansion of Grenadier-Regiment 21 of the old Reichswehr. It fought in Poland in September 1939 and in the western campaign in May 1940. In June 1941 the division was transferred to the central sector of the eastern front, returning to France in the spring of 1942. In March 1943 it was again transferred to the eastern front, southern sector. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than March 31, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that the division participated in position defense from April to September 1943 in the Taganrog area and from September through December in the area north of Melitopol. In January 1944 it began to withdraw to the area west of Nikopol where it was encircled in March 1944. The division was reformed in May 1944 and took part in operations from June through August in the Tiraspol, Jassy, and Lublin areas and in position defense from September 1944 through January 1945 in the Radom area. From February to April 1945 it participated in operations in the Breslau, Görlitz, and Zlotoryja (Goldberg) areas.

17. Panzer-Division (17th Panzer Division)

This division was formed in the years 1935-36 as the 27. Infanterie-Division during the expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal military service in March 1935. It first saw action in Poland on the outbreak of World War II in September 1939 and in May 1940 participated in the western campaign. On November 1, 1940, the division was reformed as the 17. Panzer-Division. In June 1941 it was transferred to the central sector of the eastern front, where it was continuously engaged, and moved to the southern sector in November 1942. During the summer and autumn of 1943 the division was heavily engaged in fighting in the Donets River and Dnieper River Bend areas and from March through August 1944 it withdrew to Chelm, Poland, via Proskurov, Chortkov, and Stanislav. From September through December 1944 the division took part in operations in the Opatow, Chmielnik, and Kielce areas. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than December 31, 1944, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that from January to March 1945 the division withdrew to the area west of Görlitz via Konskie, Sorau, and Luban.

18. Panzergrenadier-Division (18th Panzer Grenadier Division)

This division was formed in the years 1935-36 as the 18. Infanterie-Division during the expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal military service in March 1935. It saw action first in Poland in September 1939, then in the western campaign in May 1940, and moved to Lower Silesia in September 1940. On November 1, 1940, the division was reorganized as a motorized division. In June 1941 it fought in the central sector of the eastern front, transferring in August 1941 to the northern sector and took part in offensives from August through December 1941 in the Volkhov and Svir River sectors and in position defense from January 1942 to July 1943 in the Staraya Russa area. Gruppe von Erdmannsdorff was formed from the 18. Infanterie-Division (mot.) and the 5. Jäger-Division on February 22, 1943, as a defensive force during the 1943 winter battle south of Lake Ilmen and was disbanded on April 5, 1943. On May 20, 1943, the division was converted to the 18. Panzergrenadier-Division and returned in July 1943 to the central sector, Smolensk area. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than December 31, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that from January through June 1944 the division took part in position defense in the Mogilev and Bobruisk areas and was virtually destroyed in the Bialystok area in the summer. In November 1944 it was reformed in East Prussia and in February 1945 the division was transferred to Görlitz, Silesia. In March it withdrew to Eberswalde and in April 1945 the division participated in the defense of Berlin.

18. Panzer-Division (18th Panzer Division)

The 18. Panzer-Division was formed on October 15, 1940, in Chemnitz, Wehrkreis IV. In June 1941 it participated in the invasion of Russia, fighting in the central sector of the eastern front and advancing to the Bryansk and Orel areas by September 1943. The division suffered heavy losses west of Kiev and withdrew in the autumn of 1943 to the Orsha area, where it was inactivated on October 20, 1943, and its remnant units sent to Vilna, Lithuania.

18. Artillerie-Division (18th Artillery Division)

The 18. Artillerie-Division was formed on October 18, 1943, in Vilna, Lithuania, from units of the inactivated 18. Panzer-Division. In December 1943 it was moved to the Kiev, Zhitomir, and Berdichev sectors of the eastern front and took part in defensive actions in the Kiev and Vinnitsa areas from December 1943 to February 1944. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than February 29, 1944, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that the division withdrew from the Vinnitsa area to Opatow via Stanislav in the summer of 1944.

19. Infanterie-Division (19th Infantry Division)

The 19. Infanterie-Division was formed in the years 1935-36 during the expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal military service in March 1935. After the outbreak of World War II in September 1939 it saw action in Poland. Subsequently the division was transferred to the West where, in May 1940, it fought in Holland, Belgium, and France. In the autumn of 1940, after returning from France to the Hanover area of Germany, the division was reorganized as the 19. Panzer-Division on November 1, 1940.*

19. Panzer-Division (19th Panzer Division)

The 19. Panzer-Division was formed on November 1, 1940, from the 19. Infanterie-Division, adding Panzer-Regiment 27 and supplying Panzergrenadier-Regiment 59 to the 20. Panzer-Division. In June 1941 the division was transferred to the eastern front, central sector, and in December 1942 to the southern sector. It took part in the Belgorod offensive in the summer of 1943, where it suffered heavy losses. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than September 30, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that it participated in defensive actions as it withdrew from the Kiev area to Warsaw via Shitomir, Shepetovka, Proskurov, and Stanislav from September 1943 to August 1944. It took part in position defense in the Warsaw area from August through October 1944 and in the Radom area until the end of the year. From January to April 1945 the division defended the Opoczno, Sorau, Schweidnitz, and Mährisch Ostrau areas.

20. Panzergrenadier-Division (20th Panzer Grenadier Division)

This division was formed as the 20. Infanterie-Division during the expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal military service in March 1935. In 1937-38 it became a motorized division and was subordinate to the XIV. Armeekorps. In September 1939 it participated in the campaign against Poland and in May 1940 in the western campaign. The division fought in the central sector of the eastern front, advancing to Smolensk in the summer of 1941; later in 1941 it was transferred to the northern sector, and in November 1942 returned to the central sector where it was engaged at Velikiye Luki. On May 29, 1943, the division was converted to the 20. Panzergrenadier-Division. In the autumn of 1943 it was transferred to the southern sector, where it suffered heavy losses in the withdrawal from Kiev in November of that year. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than June 30, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that it participated in defensive operations as it withdrew from Izyaslav to the area east of Berlin via Vinnitsa, Stanislav, Podgaitsy, Krosno, Busko, Ostrowiec, Opoczno, Sorau, Forst, and Küstrin from January 1944 to April 1945.

20. Panzer-Division (20th Panzer Division)

The 20. Panzer-Division was formed on October 15, 1940, in Erfurt, Wehrkreis IX, receiving Panzergrenadier-Regiment 59 from the 19. Infanterie-Division. From June 1941 the division was employed in the central sector of the eastern front, advancing to the vicinity of Moscow. In the summer of 1943 it took part in the Orel offensive. From October through December 1943 the division withdrew from Orel to the Vitebsk area via Gomel, Mogilev, and Orsha. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than December 31, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that from January through April 1944 the division defended the Polotsk, Vitebsk, and Bobruisk areas. In May 1944 it was transferred to the southern sector and took part in operations in the Chelm area. In July the division was transferred to the Bialystok area for rehabilitation and from August through December 1944 it defended East Prussia. In January 1945 the division was moved to southern Poland and participated in the defense of the Breslau, Schweidnitz, Neisse, and Görlitz areas until the latter part of April 1945.

21. Infanterie-Division (21st Infantry Division)

The 21. Infanterie-Division (1. Welle) was formed in 1934-35 by expansion of Infanterie-Regiment 3 (Deutsch Eylau) of the old Reichswehr. In September 1939 the division was engaged in the campaign in Poland, in October 1939 it was transferred to the Eifel region, and in May 1940 it participated in the western campaign. From July to September 1940 the division performed occupation duty along the demarcation line and the Swiss border, and in September 1940 it was transferred to Wehrkreis I. On June 21, 1941, the division invaded Lithuania near Tilsit and advanced to the Chudovo area via Radviliskis, Jekabpils, Ostrov, Dno, Shimsk, and Novgorod. From August to November 1941 it defended the Chudovo area and the Volkhov area until January 1942. The division participated in position defense in the Kirishi area from January to August, the Tigoda River sector from September 1942 to January 1943, the Mga area from January to April, and the Kolpino area from May to August 1943. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than September 24, 1943, the situation maps of Heeresgruppe Nord show that the division took part in the defense of the Chudovo area from September 1943 to January 1944. By the end of 1944 it had withdrawn to East Prussia via Pleskau, Ostrov, Aluksne, and Tilsit.

21. Panzer-Division (21st Panzer Division)

This division was formed late in 1940 as the 5. leichte Division (mot.) and was reformed in Africa on August 1, 1941, as the 21. Panzer-Division. It participated in the third Axis offensive in Africa in the summer of 1942 and in October 1942 the division took part in the battle of El Alamein, where it suffered heavy losses. Subsequently the division provided the rear guard during the retreat to Tripoli and Tunisia and was virtually destroyed in Tunisia in the early spring of 1943. It was reformed in May 1943 in Normandy, where, after training it performed occupation duties. The division fought during the Allied landing in June 1944 and withdrew from France. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than September 5, 1944, the situation maps of Lage West show that from September to December 1944 it participated in defensive actions as it withdrew from France via Epinal, St.Die, Lunéville, Nancy, and Metz. In the latter part of 1944 the division withdrew to Kaiserslautern and in February 1945 it was transferred to the eastern front. The division defended the Luban, Görlitz, Lwowek Slaski, and Cottbus areas from February to April 1945.

21. Luftwaffen-Felddivision (21st Air Force Field Division)

The 21. Luftwaffen-Felddivision was formed in 1942. From December 1942 to January 1944 it participated in position defense in the Belebelka area south of Staraya Russa. In January and February 1944 the division defended the Lake Ilmen area. From March to August 1944 it took part in position defense in the Ostrov area and by October 1944 it had withdrawn to the Libau area via Aluksne and Smiltene. Except for the two months period covered by the available unit records, this information was obtained from the Lage Ost situation maps.

SUGGESTIONS FOR CITING MICROFILM OF CAPTURED GERMAN AND RELATED RECORDS IN THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES OF THE UNITED STATES

The National Archives and Records Service is frequently asked to provide recommendations regarding information to be included in footnotes or other references to records among its holdings. The following suggestions should serve this purpose and also help our staff in locating the records thus cited.

Records

Because of the great variety and complexity of some archival material, there are no convenient models that would be applicable to all records. The initial citation, however, might consist of those of the following elements applicable in each instance: item, file unit, or subseries, series title, originating office (and the administrative units of which that office is a part) name of collection or record group number and title, and depository. Except for placing the cited item first, there is no general agreement on the sequence of the remaining elements in the citation. Publishers, professional journals, and graduate faculties all prescribe their own style. Whatever sequence is adopted, however, should be used consistently throughout the same work. If in doubt, the researcher should confer with an archivist regarding elements that may be necessary to identify adequately specific records being cited.

Microfilm Publications

Citation to records reproduced in National Archives microfilm publications should provide, in general, the same information as suggested above, but with sufficient additional information to identify the particular microfilm publication as well as roll and frame numbers, if applicable.

Microfilm publications of foreign records seized during World War II involve such peculiarities of identification that largely individualized suggested systems of citation have been developed for them. The following examples suggest both a form of initial citation and of subsequent citations of the same document for each of five major microfilm projects reproducing captured German and related records; the form for the bibliography, which is not illustrated below, could be some appropriate modification of the initial citation, but should also include the National Archives record group title and number, i.e., National Archives Collection of World War II War Crimes Records (Nuernberg), Record Group 238, and the number of the microfilm publication; or National Archives Collection of Foreign Records Seized 1941- , Record Group 242, and the number of the microfilm publication.

1. Captured records microfilmed at Alexandria, Virginia.
   Initial citation:

   Subsequent citations:
      KTB 2, Aug 17, 1939, T314/34/397.
      Item numbers such as EAP 173-a-10/22a, or OKW 1015 are optional and serial numbers unnecessary. Frames are sometimes unnumbered.

2. Foreign Ministry Archives and records of the Reichskanzlei filmed at Whaddon Hall.
   Initial citation:
      Ambassador in Madrid (Stohrer) to Foreign Ministry, Berlin, Dec. 9, 1940, German Foreign Ministry Archives, Serial 136, frames D674515-516; National Archives Microfilm Publication T120, roll 146.

Subsequent citations:

Initial citation:
"Verwaltung besetzter Gebiete in Serbien, 15.11.16-31.7.17," SA Reel 83, National Archives Microfilm Publication T136, roll 83, frames 17-24.
Subsequent citations:
SA/T136/83/19.

The serial number is the essential identification, whether the serial is of the interchangeable unlettered or H serials, or of the B,C,F,K,L and M serials. The terms reel, container or roll are acceptable variations, with the last preferred by the National Archives. With the Tripartite Project microfilm, National Archives Microfilm Publication T120, it is imperative to distinguish between serial and roll numbers, and the Catalog of Files and Microfilm of the German Foreign Ministry Archives, 1920-1945, 4 vols., has as a supplement to each volume, a National Archives serial-roll conversion list. The Public Records Office in London uses the same serial and frame numbers, although not always the same roll numbers, and the microfilm publication symbols GFM 2-5 instead of T120, to identify the Tripartite Project microfilm. The other Whaddon Hall microfilm projects use the same number for serial and roll, as the SA (Saint Antony's College project) serial example, given above, indicates; the National Archives has substituted microfilm publication number for project symbols.

3. Records from the German Naval Archives microfilmed for the United States Navy at the Admiralty, London.
Initial citation:

Subsequent citations:
PG 64856, T1022/650.
PG number is the essential record item number; either the TA number or the T1022 roll number is sufficient microfilm identification. There are no frame numbers in this microfilm publication.

4. Heeresarchiv Potsdam records microfilmed at the National Archives.
Initial citation:
Groener to Alarich von Gleich, Papers of General Wilhelm Groener (Groener Nachlass) at the Bundesarchiv Koblenz, National Archives Microfilm Publication M137, roll 7.

Microfilm copies of one or more rolls of the microfilm may be purchased at the prices listed below. Orders from purchasers in the United States, United States possessions, Canada, and Mexico will be sent without a charge for postage or shipping. Small orders from other foreign purchasers will be sent without a charge for postage. Orders from other foreign purchasers for more than 40 rolls of microfilm will be subject to an additional charge of 5% for shipping.

Checks or money orders for microfilm should accompany the order. They should be made payable to the General Services Administration (NATS) and should be sent to the Cashier, NARS, GSA, Washington, DC 20408. Persons ordering microfilm from outside the United States or its possessions should make their remittance by international money order or check drawn in United States dollars on a bank in the United States and payable to the General Services Administration (NATS). Each order should specify Microfilm Publication T315, the roll number or numbers, and the price.

This finding aid has been prepared by the National Archives as part of its program of facilitating the use of records in its custody.

The microfilm described in this guide may be consulted at the National Archives, where it is identified as Microfilm Publication T315. Those desiring to purchase microfilm should write to the Publications Sales Branch, NARS, GSA, Washington, DC 20408.

Some of the papers reproduced on the microfilm referred to in this and other guides of the same series may have been of private origin. The fact of their seizure is not believed to divest their original owners of any literary property rights in them. Anyone, therefore, who publishes them in whole or in part without permission of their authors may be held liable for infringement of such literary property rights.

PREFACE

The Guides to German Records Microfilmed at Alexandria, Va. constitute a series of finding aids describing National Archives microfilm that reproduces seized records of German central, regional, and local government agencies, and of military commands and units, as well as of the Nazi Party, its formation, affiliated associations, and supervised organizations. The records described in the Guides were created generally during the period from 1920 to 1945.

The series was initiated by the Microfilming Project of the Committee for the Study of War Documents of the American Historical Association in cooperation with the National Archives and the Department of the Army. With the termination of AHA participation in July 1963, the National Archives assumed sole responsibility for the reproduction of records and the preparation of Guides.

This Guide is one of many in the series describing the records of the German Army field commands which have been arranged by unit and filmed in discrete microcopies according to their military echelon as follows: Army Groups (Microcopy T-311), Armies (T-312), Panzer Armies (T-313), Corps (T-314), Divisions (T-315), and Rear Areas, Occupied Territories, and Others (T-501).

Guide No. 64 (designated Part IV of Guides to records of German Army divisions--Parts I-III being Guides 41, 45, and 63) describes the contents of 236 rolls of Microcopy No. T-315 reproducing records of divisions numbered 22 through 57. Future Guides will describe records of divisions numbered above 57. The records in Guide 64 include material on the campaign in Poland in 1939, the western campaigns in 1940 and 1944 and 1945, the campaign against the Soviet Union from 1941 to 1945, the North African campaign in 1942 and 1943, the campaign in Italy from 1943 to 1945, and occupation duty in France from 1940 to 1944 and in Belgium, Holland, Denmark, and Norway from 1940 to 1943, and occupation duty and antipartisan warfare in the Balkans from 1941 to 1945.

The provenance to which each record item is attributed is the unit headquarters that created it (i.e., kept it on file), although a large proportion of the items had in fact already been retired to depositories of the Heeresarchiv Potsdam. There accession numbers were assigned and stamped or written on the covers in the order received, and the records were then cataloged by unit in the so-called "Potsdam Catalog." By the time the records reached the United States, they were in rough arrangement by unit. The National Archives has retained this system inherited from its various American predecessor organizations, taking advantage of the circumstance that the original Potsdam catalogs were acquired along with the seized field command records. The AHA and National Archives also followed this arrangement in their joint and separate microfilm projects; however, some record items were filmed out of sequence because of subsequent declassification or the discovery of previously mislaid or temporarily unavailable material, which accounts for the occasional break in continuity of roll numbers in the Guides. Record items not yet retired to the Heeresarchiv depositories at the time of capture were assigned accession numbers above 75,000 by American custodians in extension of the original Potsdam numbering scheme.

Considerable information on the fate of Germany's military archives during World War II, including documentation of efforts to reconstruct records destroyed in several wartime fires, may be found in the files of the Chef des Heeresarchivs, OKH, filmed as Microcopy T-78, Rolls 1-38 and described in Guide No. 12 of the series.

Although the records of these divisions have been filmed selectively, the war journals (Kriegstagebücher) and activity reports

(Tätigkeitsberichte) and their annexes (Anlagen) of the Operations (Ia) and Intelligence (Ic) staff sections, wherever available, were filmed in entirety. A few records of the Supply, Administrative, Medical, Personnel, and Judge Advocate staff sections assigned to division headquarters were filmed for those units whose operations and intelligence files were incomplete or missing. Map annexes (Kartenanlagen) consisting exclusively of large maps difficult to put on microfilm were generally omitted; maps interspersed among and integrated with the textual records were filmed in several overlapping sections, which, along with the loss of color markings, detracts considerably from their value and ease of use.

A unit history precedes the file item listing for each division. These histories are a revised and expanded form of the shorter unit histories filmed at the beginning of every roll reproducing the records of each unit. The unit histories are based on information found in the records, in the Potsdam catalogs, and on contemporary German daily situation maps, supplementing or correcting the brief histories given in the Order of Battle of the German Army, War Department, Washington, March 1945. A data card describing each filmed record item has been filmed immediately preceding the folder it describes, and the cards for all folders on one roll of film are again filmed as a finding aid at the beginning of that roll. The information contained on these cards was used as a reference in compiling descriptive entries for the Guide, but considerable revision was undertaken because so many of these card descriptions were prepared hastily to maintain pace with filming and restitution schedules.

The term "Roll" in the Guide refers to the sequence of the film; "1st Frame" gives the frame number of the first page of the folder; "Item No." is the identification symbol on the original folder. The "Item" provides (a) the abbreviation of the staff section that originated the document, (b) the title appearing on the folder cover, and (c) additional information providing a general description of the contents. The inclusive dates of the file item are given under a "Date" column.

The original records, filmed and unfilmed, have been returned to the Federal Republic of Germany for deposit in the Bundesarchiv-Militärarchiv in Freiburg. The master negatives of Microcopy T-315 have been deposited with the Publications Sales Branch, National Archives, Washington, D.C. 20408, from which copies of specific rolls may be purchased. Reference copies may be consulted in the microfilm reading room of the National Archives. For suggestions for citing microfilm see page 140.

The descriptions in this Guide were prepared by Anton F. Grassl, George Wagner, Petronilla Hawes, and Ignaz Ernst under the supervision of Donald E. Spencer.

22. Infanterie-Division (22d Infantry Division)

The 22. Infanterie-Division was activated in Bremen, Wehrkreis X, on August 16, 1939. It fought in Holland in May 1940 as an airborne division, participated in the victory parade in Paris, and then was transferred to Antwerp for occupation duties. The division transferred to Rumania in May 1941 and took part in the June invasion of Russia in the southern sector, advancing to the Crimea. In July and August 1942 it was transferred to Salonika, Greece, and in September and October of the same year, to Crete. (At that time, the subordinated Grenadier-Regiment 47 was detached and transferred to Tripoli, Libya, and was eventually destroyed in Tunisia). In the spring of 1943 the division was reorganized as a motorized division although it was never officially designated as such. Part of the division, known as "Kampfgruppe Müller," participated in the occupation of the Dodecanese Islands in November and December 1943 and other components became Sturmbrigade Rhodes. The division evacuated Crete in the summer of 1944 and then engaged in antipartisan warfare in Greece and Yugoslavia. It capitulated in Yugoslavia in May 1945.

22. Panzer-Division (22d Panzer Division)

The 22. Panzer-Division was formed in France on September 25, 1941. In February 1942 it was transferred from France to Odessa, Russia, and from there to the Crimea, where it suffered heavy losses in the Kerch Peninsula. It was then transferred to the Kharkov area and participated in battles along the Donets and Don Rivers, and in the battle of Rostov. In November 1942 the division was moved to Kalach on the Don River where the Russians had broken through the Rumanian line of defense in the encirclement of Stalingrad. It withdrew to Starobelsk in January 1943 and to the Chistyakovo area by early March. On March 3, 1943, the division was reorganized as Kampfgruppe 22 and probably destroyed in March 1943.

23. Infanterie-Division (23d Infantry Division)

The 23. Infanterie-Division was formed in the autumn of 1935 in Potsdam by expansion of Infanterie-Regiment 9 of the old Reichswehr. In 1939 the division took part in the campaign in Poland and in 1940 in the western campaign. From June 1941 until June 1942 the division fought on the eastern front, central sector, where it suffered heavy losses. Although there are no records of the division available for the period June 22 to September 20, 1942, the situation maps of Heeresgruppe Süd and Lage West show that the division departed from Izheshkovo, Russia, on June 27, 1942, and arrived at Charleroi, Belgium, on July 1, 1942. It was transferred in August to north of Tourcoing, France. In September 1942 the 26. Panzer-Division was formed from the 26. Panzergrenadier-Brigade (Infanterie-Regimente 9 and 67 of the 23. Infanterie-Division). Another regiment of the division, Infanterie-Regiment 68, was transferred to Denmark in October 1942 to form the nucleus of a new 23. Infanterie-Division. In January 1943 the division was transferred from Denmark to Pskov. From January to May it took part in the defense of the Staraya Russa, Novgorod, Chudovo, and Gatchina areas and from May to August in the Mga, Gatchina, and Novgorod areas. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than August 10, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that in September and October 1943 the division defended the Novgorod area and in November and December participated in the defensive battle at Nevel. From January through March 1944 it defended the Polotsk area and in April part of the division defended Tallin (Reval) and the main part the Ostrov area. It took part in position defense in the Pustoshka area from May through July and in the Madona area in August and September. The division participated in operations from October to early December on the Saare Island and the Sorve Peninsula and was transferred on December 9, 1944, from Ventspils to Danzig. From December 1944 to February 1945 the division was rehabilitated in the Mikolajki area and took part in operations from March through April 1945 in the Praust and Danzig areas.

23. Panzer-Division (23d Panzer Division)

The formation of the 23. Panzer-Division began in the Paris area on September 21, 1941, and was completed on March 14, 1942, after which it was transferred to the eastern front. The division fought near Kharkov and subsequently in the Terek River area. In December 1942 it was transferred to the Stalingrad area. Escaping encirclement at Stalingrad in December 1943 the division withdrew to the Stalino area via Bolshaya Martynovka and Rostov and defended this area until the end of June 1943. From July to December 1943 it defended the Dmitriyevka and Makeyevka areas, then moved northward to defend Kharkov and westward to defend Krivoi Rog, and finally the division participated in operations in the Pyatikhatki, Aleksandriya, Kremenchug, and Kirovograd areas. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than December 31, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that from January to March 1944 the division was again engaged in the defense of the Krivoi Rog area and then withdrew to the Jassy area via Pervomaisk, Proskurov, and Beltsy. From April to August it participated in position defense in the Jassy area. The division took part in operations in the Radomysl Wielki, Opatow, and Wierzbnik areas in Poland until October 1944, when it was transferred to the area east of Debrecen. From November 1944 to April 1945 the division participated in the defense of the Hatvan, Bakony Mountain, Szekesfehervar, and Köröshegy areas in Hungary, the Maribor area in Slovenia, and the Graz area in Austria.

24. Infanterie-Division (24th Infantry Division)

The 24. Infanterie-Division (1. Welle) was formed in 1935-36 during the expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal military service in March 1935. In September 1939 it participated in the campaign against Poland and in May 1940 in the western campaign. It was transferred to the southern sector of the eastern front in June 1941 and fought its way to Kremenchug, south to Krivoi Rog, and finally to the Crimea. In July 1942 it helped capture Sevastopol. The division was transferred to the northern sector south of Leningrad in August 1942, where it participated in operations along the Volkhov River between Chudovo and Volkhov and along the Moscow-Leningrad railroad line between Lyuban and Kolpino. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than June 30, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that the division fought in the third battle at Lake Ladoga from July to September 1943 and in position defense in the Kolpino area until January 1944. Components of the division took part in the defensive battle at Nevel, October 21 to November 12, 1943. The division participated in defensive action from January to April 1944 in the Strugi Krasnye, Idritsa, and Pustoshka areas and in position defense in the Polotosk area from April to July, in the Madona area from August to October, and in the Auce (Autse) area from October 1944 to April 1945.

24. Panzer-Division (24th Panzer Division)

The forerunner of the division was formed in the winter of 1939-40 as the 1. Kavallerie-Division from the 1. Kavallerie-Brigade, which had taken part in the campaign in Poland. The 1. Kavallerie-Division participated in the western campaign in May 1940 and was transferred to the eastern front in June 1941. It was reorganized as the 24. Panzer-Division at Ohrdruf in November 1941, and was moved in March 1942 to the Guer area in France for training. In May 1942 the division was transferred to the southern sector of the eastern front, where in January 1943 the greater part of the division was destroyed at Stalingrad. Remnants of the division were assembled at Stalino and Rostov in February 1943 and transferred to Lisieux, France, where the division was reorganized. In August 1943 it was transferred to central Italy, where it secured this area after the capitulation of Italy. The division returned in October 1943 to the southern sector of the eastern front where it participated in defense against Russian attacks in the Nikopol, Krivoi Rog, Krasnograd, Dneprodzerzhinsk, and Znamenka areas. Although no records of this division dated later than December 31, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that in January and February 1944 it defended the area south of Krivoi Rog and in March and April it withdrew to Jassy via Voznesensk and Balta. From April to August it took part in position defense in the Jassy area, and from August 1944 to January 1945 in defensive actions in the Busko and Dukla areas of Poland, the Nagykörös and Eger areas of Hungary, and the Krupino area of Slovakia. In January 1945 the division moved to Rastenburg, East Prussia, and defended the Heiligenbeil and Braunsberg (Braniewo) areas from February to April 1945.

25. Panzergrenadier-Division (25th Panzer Grenadier Division)

Formed in 1934-35 as the 25. Infanterie-Division (1. Welle) by expansion of Infanterie-Regiment 13 of the old Reichswehr, this division participated in the campaign against Poland in September and October 1939, transferred to the German-Luxembourg border for the western campaign in May 1940, and in October 1940 from the demarcation line in France back to its home station in Ludwigsburg, Wehrkreis V. Reorganized as a motorized infantry division on November 1, 1940, in June 1941 it went to Poland for the attack on Russia, crossing the border in the central sector, advancing from Rovno southeast to Zaporozhe, then taking part in the encirclement of Kiev, the advance to Orel, and position defense on the Oka and Zusha Rivers, where it suffered heavy losses during the winter of 1942 and spring of 1943. The division was redesignated the 25. Panzergrenadier-Division on May 19, 1943, when a Führer directive converted all motorized infantry divisions into panzer grenadier divisions. After heavy losses in the Kursk offensive in the summer of 1943, the division was engaged west of Smolensk. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than December 31, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost, West, and Frankreich show that from January to July 1944 the division participated in the defense of the Dubrovno area, returned to Germany in July 1944 for rehabilitation, and in the autumn was ordered to the western front. From November 1944 to January 1945 the division, augmented by the 107. Panzer-Brigade, defended the Saarlautern and Kaiserslautern areas. In February 1945 it returned to the eastern front, defended the Küstrin area from February to April 1945, and then withdrew to Oranienburg north of Berlin where it was destroyed in the closing days of the war.

25. Panzer-Division (25th Panzer Division)

Formed in Eberswalde on February 27, 1942, the 25. Panzerdivisionsstab embarked from Hamburg on March 5 for Oslo, where it was brought to full division strength with 4,000 new recruits. The division was involved in training and occupation duties, but also took part in the operation against Norwegian partisans who attacked the heavy water plant at Rjukan on February 28, 1943. In late August 1943, the division sailed from Oslo to Copenhagen, where it participated in the operation to disarm the Danish Army on August 28, 1943. Moved to France in September 1943, in October it was reassigned to defensive positions on the eastern front, southwest of Kiev.

Although there are no records of the division available dated later than November 10, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that this division participated in operations in the Fastov, Berdichev, Vinnitsa, Proskurov, Chortkov, and Stanislav areas from December 1943 to April 1944, suffering such heavy losses during its withdrawal across the northern Ukraine in March 1944, that it was moved to Denmark in May for rehabilitation. Returned to the Pultusk area, Poland, in September 1944, the 25. Panzer-Division defended the Pultusk, Warka, Radom, Mogielnica, Forst, Guben, Pasewalk, and Müncheberg areas from October 1944 to April 1945.

26. Infanterie-Division (Volksgrenadier) (26th Infantry Division [Volks Grenadier])

The 26. Infanterie-Division was formed in 1935-36 during the expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal military service in March 1935. In May and June 1940 the division took part in the western campaign. Between December 1940 and May 1941 it was transferred to Lötzen, East Prussia, for preparations for the campaign against Russia. From June 1941 the division was employed in the central sector of the eastern front and participated in the battles on the Volga River between Rzhev and Kalinin in the fall and winter of 1941 and in the Orel area in the spring of 1942. The division suffered heavy losses south of Voronezh between the Don and Donets Rivers in the fall and winter of 1942, and in the Kursk offensive in the summer of 1943. Although no records of this division dated later than July 13, 1943, except for two items dated August 5 and December 16-31, 1944, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost and West show that it participated in defensive engagements in the Sumy, Trubchevsk, and Roslavl areas from July to October 1943 and position defense in the Dubrovno area until February 1944. It moved northward in March to defend the Idritsa area and returned in April to defend the Gorki area. From May to July the division took part in position defense in the Kovel area and in August and September defended the Radom and Wierzbnik areas. In October 1944 it was transferred to the Trier area, and reorganized as a Volksgrenadier-Division. From December 1944 to January 1945 the division fought in the Ardennes counteroffensive in the Bastogne area.

26. Panzer-Division (26th Panzer Division)

The 26. Panzer-Division was formed on September 15, 1942, in Mons, Belgium, from the 26. Panzergrenadier-Brigade, whose staff was activated on July 27, 1942, by order of OKH, from personnel of Infanterie-Regimente 9 and 67 of the 23. Infanterie-Division. The division was transferred in October 1942 to Amiens, France, for training and coastal defense, and in August and September 1943 to southern Italy to defend the Salerno and Cassino areas. Although no records of this division dated later than April 16, 1944, are available, situation maps of Lage Italien show that it took part in defensive engagements in the Orsogna, Frosinone, Lucca, Marino, Rimini, Cesena, Ravenna, and Bologna areas from April to December 1944 and in position defense in the Ferrara area in January and February 1945 and in the Imola area in March and April 1945.

28. Jäger-Division (28th Light Infantry Division)

This division (1. Welle) was formed as the 28. Infanterie-Division in 1934-35 by expansion of Grenadier-Regiment 7 (Schweidnitz) of the old Reichswehr. In September 1939 it participated in the campaign against Poland and in May 1940 in the western campaign. In May 1941 it was sent to East Prussia where it advanced into Russia in June and took part in the capture of Smolensk. In November 1941 the division was transferred to France and was reorganized as the 28. leichte Infanterie-Division on December 1, 1941, when it gave up Grenadier-Regiment 7 to the 252. Infanterie-Division. In February 1942 it returned to the eastern front and took part in the capture of Kerch and Sevastopol. On July 1, 1942, the division was redesignated the 28. Jäger-Division and moved to the northern sector, where it fought in the area south of Lake Ladoga until June 1943. Although no records of this division dated later than June 30, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it defended the Mga and Novgorod areas from July 1943 to January 1944, the area west of Lake Ilmen and the Pustoshka and Opochka areas from February to May, and the Vladimirets area in the central sector in June 1944. The division fought in the Gorodishche, Volkovysk, Lomza, and Goldap areas from July 1944 to January 1945 and in the Orneta (Wormditt) and Braniewo (Braunsberg) areas in February and March. Refitted early in April, it defended the Pillau area of East Prussia until its capture.

29. Infanterie-Division (mot.) (29th Motorized Infantry Division)

This division (1. Welle) was formed as the 29. Infanterie-Division by expansion of Infanterie-Regiment 15 (Kassel) of the old Reichswehr in 1934-35. In 1937-38, when it was under control of the XIV. Armeekorps, it became a motorized division. In September 1939 it took part in the campaign in Poland, and in May 1940 in the western campaign. On June 22, 1941, the division invaded Russia near Siedlce and advanced to Mtsensk, participating in offensive engagements in the Baranovichi, Smolensk, Yelnya, Bryansk, Novgorod Severski, Kiev, Sevsk, Karachev, and Orel areas. From January to May 1942 it defended the Mtsensk area. Although no records of this division dated later than May 31, 1942, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost, West, and Südwest show that it went on the offensive in the Kharkov and Morozovsk areas in June and July 1942 and then engaged in the battle at Stalingrad, where it was finally destroyed in January 1943. The division was re-formed at Pau, France, in March 1943 and on May 19 was redesignated the 29. Panzergrenadier-Division. In June it was transferred to Sicily and in August to southern Italy. From September 1943 to January 1944 the division defended the Anzio beachhead and the Cassino and Formia areas, withdrawing to Rome in February and defending this area until July 1944. From July to November it took part in defensive engagements in the Florence, Rimini, Cesena, and Bologna areas. The division participated in position defense in the Imola area from December 1944 to January 1945 and in the Modena area from February to April 1945.

30. Infanterie-Division (30th Infantry Division)

The 30. Infanterie-Division (1. Welle) was formed in 1934-35 by expansion of Infanterie-Regiment 6 (Lübeck) of the old Reichswehr. It participated in the campaign against Poland in September 1939 and fought in Belgium and France as far as Etampes, south of Paris, in May and June 1940. In 1941 it was transferred to East Prussia. From June 1941 the division participated in the eastern campaign in the northern sector. It crossed Lithuania and Latvia and entered Russia near Opochka, advancing to the Valdai Heights southeast of Demyansk. The division fought in defensive operations in the Polomet River area from November 15, 1941, to February 28, 1942, and in the Demyansk pocket from March 1942 to January 1943. Although no records of this division dated later than November 30, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it took part in position defense in the Staraya Russa area until January 1944. It engaged in defensive operations in the area east of Lake Ilmen and in the Ostrov area in February and March and in position defense in the Pskov area from April to July. The division was in the Voru (Vyru), Valga, and Yelgava (Mitau) areas from August to October 1944 for defensive engagements and withdrew to the area southeast of Liepaja (Libau) where it capitulated at the end of the war.

31. Infanterie-Division (31st Infantry Division)

The 31. Infanterie-Division (1. Welle) was formed in 1934-35 by expansion of Infanterie-Regiment 12 (Halberstadt) and Infanterie-Regiment 17 (Braunschweig) of the old Reichswehr. In September 1939 the division took part in the campaign in Poland and in May 1940 in the western campaign. In June 1941 the division was in the central sector of the eastern front. It crossed the Bug River into Russia near Terespol, participated in the capture of Gomel and Bryansk, and by November 1941 had advanced to Tula. In December 1941 it began defensive operations in the Tula, Kaluga, Yukhnov, Kirov, Vyazma, and Gzhatsk areas. Although no records of this division dated later than December 31, 1942, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it participated in the Kursk offensive in the summer of 1943 and in defensive engagements in the Chernigov, Novgorod Severski, Gomel, Rogachev, Bykhov, and Mogilev areas from August 1943 to June 1944. The division withdrew to Germany in July, where it was reorganized as the 31. Grenadier-Division, returning in August 1944 to the northern sector of the eastern front to take part in defensive operations in the Valga and Sigulda areas. In October 1944 the division was redesignated the 31. Volksgrenadier-Division and withdrew to the area east of Liepaja (Libau), which it defended until the end of December. It was transferred to East Prussia in January 1945 to defend the Tuchel, Hel Peninsula, and Putzig areas until the latter part of April 1945.

32. Infanterie-Division (32d Infantry Division)

The 32. Infanterie-Division was formed in Kolberg in 1934-35 by expansion of Infanterie-Regiment 4 of the old Reichswehr and participated in the campaign in Poland in 1939 and in the West in 1940. Beginning June 22, 1941, it fought in the eastern campaign, crossing Lithuania via Mariampole and Kaunas. In July it entered Russia near Disna on the Dvina River and moved northward via Nevel, Novosokolniki, Kholm, Demyansk, and Valdai to Borovichi. In November and December 1941 it fought in the Borovichi, Lake Seliger, and Valdai Heights areas. From January 1942 to February 1943 the division took part in position defense in the Demyansk pocket and from March through October in the Staraya Russa area, then moved to the Novosokolniki-Nevel area, where it participated in the battle for Nevel from November 13, 1943, to January 4, 1944. Although no records of this division dated later than December 31, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it defended the Nevel, Polotsk, Sebezh, and Opochka areas from January to April 1944, the Ostrov area from May to July, and the Madona area from August to October. It then withdrew to the area east of Liepaja (Libau), which it defended until February 1945, and to Preussisch Friedland to defend the Bütow, Rummelsberg, and Pillau areas until the latter part of April 1945.

34. Infanterie-Division (34th Infantry Division)

The 34. Infanterie-Division (1. Welle) was formed in 1935-36 during the expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal military service in March 1935. In May 1940 it took part in the western campaign. The division was transferred in June 1941 to the eastern front, central sector, and participated in battles from the Bug to the Dnieper, Desna, Ugra, and Nara Rivers, advancing to Tarutino southwest of Moscow. Moving to Mtsensk in January 1943, it took part in position defense in the Orel area until June 1943. Although no records of this division dated later than June 30, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost and West show that it participated in defensive engagements in the Kursk, Kharkov, Lubny, Kiev, and Boguslav areas from July 1943 to March 1944. The division withdrew to Rumania until May, when it was transferred to western Italy. From July to September 19 the division defended the La Spezia and Cecina areas, moving in October 1944 to the Franco-Italian frontier, which it defended until early in 1945.

35. Infanterie-Division (35th Infantry Division)

The 35. Infanterie-Division (1. Welle) was formed during the expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal military service in March 1935. In May 1940 it fought in Holland, Belgium, and France. The division was transferred to East Prussia in April 1941 in preparation for the campaign against Russia, and fought in the central sector in the encirclement of Smolensk, at Vyazma, and to the Istra River northwest of Moscow. It suffered heavy losses in the winters of 1941-42 and 1942-43 in the Vyazma and Gzhatsk areas and in the summer of 1943 near Dorogobuzh on the Dnieper River front. Although no records of this division dated later than June 30, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it participated in the defense of the Smolensk area in September and October 1943, the Chausy area in November and December, and the area between Mozyr and Bobruisk from January to June 1944. It took part in defensive engagements in the Pinsk, Ostrow, and Pultusk areas from July 1944 to January 1945, withdrawing to Danzig via Plonsk, Grudziadz, Starogard, and Pruszcz from January to the latter part of April 1945.

36. Infanterie-Division (36th Infantry Division)

The 36. Infanterie-Division (1. Welle) was formed during the expansion of the Army after the introduction of universal military service in March 1935. In May 1940 it took part in the western campaign and was converted to the 36. Infanterie-Division (mot.) on November 1, 1940. In June 1941 it fought in the eastern campaign, northern sector, crossing the Baltic States and advancing northward via Pskov, Lyady, and Luga to Gatchina. The division was transferred to the Nevel-Velizh area in September for offensive operations at Rzhev, Kalinin, and Pushkino. In 1942 and to the spring of 1943 it defended the Dukhovshchina, Yartsevo, and Demidov areas. On March 21, 1943, the division was again reorganized as the 36. Infanterie-Division, moving to Orel in July 1943, where it fought in the Kursk offensive. The division withdrew to the Vitebsk area in September 1943, later transferring to the Rechitsa-Rogachev area for offensive actions, and withdrew to the Berezina River in the latter part of 1943. Although no records of this division dated later than December 31, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it participated in position defense in the area south of Bobruisk from January to June 1944, when it withdrew from the eastern front. In the summer of 1944 the division was reorganized as the 36. Grenadier-Division and moved to the Saarbrücken area in September and later to the Trier area. In October 1944 it was redesignated the 36. Volksgrenadier-Division and in December 1944 and January 1945 it fought in the Bitche area.

38. Infanterie-Division (38th Infantry Division)

The 38. Infanterie-Division staff which was formed in Brittany, France, on July 7, 1942, was trained and brought to full strength at Münster, Germany. In the latter part of July 1942 the division was transferred to Holland for training in coastal security and close combat, and in December 1942 it was sent to St.Nazaire, France. In late March 1943 the division was transferred to the southern sector of the eastern front and participated in defensive engagements in the Artemovsk, Krasny Liman, Izyum, Slavyansk, and Pavlograd areas to September 1943. Although no records of this division dated later than September 10, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it took part in the defense of the Pavlograd, Zaporozhe, and Krivoi Rog areas until December 1943, when it was probably destroyed.

39. Infanterie-Division (39th Infantry Division)

The 39. Infanterie-Division was formed in July 1942 in Elsenborn from reserve units in Wehrkreis VI and transferred to the Flushing area of Holland, and later to the Bruges, Ghent, and Antwerp areas of Belgium. In March 1943 the division moved to the Krasnograd area of the eastern front. In the spring and summer of 1943 it participated in offensive engagements in the Kharkov, Belgorod, Volchansk, and Chuguev areas. From August to October it defended the Krasnograd and Kremenchug areas, when part of the division withdrew to the Uman area via Smela and Znamenka, and part remained in the Kremenchug area until December 5, 1943. The 39. Infanterie-Division staff was transferred to Bruck a.d. Mur, Austria, Wehrkreis XVIII, in November, and re-formed as the 41. Festungsdivision staff, December 2 - 10, 1943.

44. Infanterie-Division (44th Infantry Division)

The 44. Infanterie-Division was formed by expansion of the Viennese Infanterie-Regiment 4 after the annexation of Austria. It participated in the campaign against Poland in 1939 and in the invasion of France as far as the Tours area in May 1940. In the latter part of June 1940 the division moved to the La Rochelle area for training and coastal defense and was transferred in April 1941 to the Kielce area of Poland. The division took part in the invasion of Russia in the southern sector on June 22, 1941, advancing via Janow, Lvov, Dubno, Zhitomir, Korosten, Byshev, Poltava, and Akhtyrka to the area east of Kharkov. It was destroyed at Stalingrad in January 1943. In March 1943 the division was re-formed in Belgium, receiving the honorary title "Reichsgrenadierdivision Hoch- und Deutschmeister" in May 1943. It was transferred to northeast Italy for antipartisan operations in September 1943 and on November 21, 1943, the division began combat operations in the Frosinone-Cassino area where it remained until the latter part of August 1944. Although no records of this division dated later than August 30, 1944, are available, situation maps of Lage Südwest and Ost show that it withdrew from Italy in September 1944 and arrived in November at Pecs, Hungary, for refitting. It defended the Pecs and Barcs areas of Hungary and the Komarno and Nove Zamky areas of Slovakia until March 1945, when it moved to Austria and defended the area southeast of Graz until the end of the war.

45. Infanterie-Division (45th Infantry Division)

The 45. Infanterie-Division was formed in 1938 after the annexation of Austria. In September 1939 it participated in the Polish campaign, and in May 1940 in the western campaign. The division returned to Poland in April 1941 in preparation for the campaign against Russia, and fought in the central sector of the eastern front advancing to the Orel area. It suffered heavy losses during the winters of 1941-42 and 1942-43 east of Orel and took part in the Kursk offensive in the summer of 1943. In the fall of the same year it was engaged in defensive battles along the Desna River, in the area west of Gomel, and between the Sozh and Dnieper Rivers. Although no records of this division dated later than December 31, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it participated in position defense in the Bobruisk area from January to the end of June 1944 and in the battle to break the Russian encirclement at Bobruisk from June 29 to July 1, 1944. In the summer of 1944 the division was reorganized as the 45. Grenadier-Division and returned to Poland. In October 1944 it was redesignated the 45. Volksgrenadier-Division and took part in position defense in the Radom area from October through December 1944. The division then withdrew to the Schweidnitz area via Lodz and defended this area until late in April 1945.

46. Infanterie-Division (46th Infantry Division)

The 46. Infanterie-Division (1. Welle) was formed after the annexation of the Sudeten areas. It participated in the Polish campaign and secured the demarcation line in Poland. In October 1939 the division was transferred to the Rhineland, and in May 1940 it took part in the western campaign. It was transferred from the Tours area to Rumania and Bulgaria in March 1941, then participated in the invasion and occupation of Yugoslavia. In the latter part of June the division was transferred to the southern sector of the eastern front, advancing to Kerch via Yampol, Krasnograd, Znamenka, Nikolaev, Armyansk, and Simferopol. In the summer of 1942 it occupied the Caucasus and in January 1943 began its retreat to the Izyum area. In the fall and winter of 1943 it took part in defensive operations along the Dnieper River from Dnepropetrovsk to Nikopol. Although no records of this division dated later than December 31, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it withdrew from January to May 1944 from Nikopol to the Roman area via Krivoi Rog, Bobrinets, Pervomaisk, and Kishinev and defended this area until August. The division participated in defensive engagements in September and October in the Piatra Neamt and Sighisoara areas of Rumania and the Nyiregyhaza area of Hungary, and was in the Budapest area to the latter part of December 1944. In January 1945 the division withdrew to Banska Stiavnica and Nove Zamky, Slovakia, and defended the Nove Zamky area until March. It was redesignated the 46. Volksgrenadier-Division on March 1, 1945. The division defended the Brno (Brünn) area in April 1945.

47. Infanterie-Division (Volksgrenadier) (47th Infantry Division /Volks Grenadier/)

The 47. Infanterie-Division was formed from the 156. Infanterie-Division on December 30, 1943, in the Calais area of France and defended this area against Allied invasion forces from June to August 1944. It suffered heavy losses in the Mons area of Belgium in September and withdrew to Germany. In October 1944 the division was reorganized as the 47. Volksgrenadier-Division at the Truppenübungsplatz Wildflecken. In November and December 1944 it defended the Roer River sector. The division moved southward from Düren to defend the Haguenau area in January 1945, withdrawing to Germany in early March. Information presented herein was obtained from the records of the division, from those of the OKH, Allgemeines Heeresamt, Abwicklungsstab (H 41/25), T78, Roll 141, and from situation maps of Lage Frankreich.

50. Infanterie-Division (50th Infantry Division)

This division was formed in 1938 as Grenzkommandantur Küstrin (Küstrin Frontier Command). It participated in the campaign against Poland in September 1939 and was reorganized as the 50. Infanterie-Division between October 25, 1939 and January 21, 1940. It took part in the western campaign in May and June 1940. In the summer of 1940 the division was transferred from France to the Hanover area, in the fall of the same year to Posen, and in December 1940 to Liegnitz, Silesia, for winter training. On January 26, 1941, it entrained for movement to Rumania, and from there marched to the Bulgarian-Greek border for the campaign against Greece on April 6, 1941. After the Balkan campaign it was transferred from Salonika, Greece, to the Rumanian-Russian border for preparation of the Russian campaign where it fought continuously in the southern sector, the Crimean Peninsula, the battle of Sevastopol, and in the Caucasus area as far as the Terek River. In 1943 it withdrew along the Kuban River to the Taman Peninsula. In December 1943 part of the division was transferred to the Kakhovka area on the Dnieper River and part became "Gruppe Sixt" which was ordered to the northern Crimea and fought in the Armyansk area. Although no records of this division dated later than December 31, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it withdrew to Constanta, Rumania, in April and May 1944 and returned to Germany for refitting. The division defended the Lida, Lomza, Augustow, Goldap, Eylau, Heiligenbeil, Frische Nehrung, and Pillau areas from July 1944 to the latter part of April 1945.

52. Infanterie-Division (52d Infantry Division)

The 52. Infanterie-Division (2. Welle) was formed from reservists in the summer of 1939. In June 1940 it was in the Marne-Saône Canal area of the western front. In June 1941 the division was transferred from the Dijon-Colmar area to the Lukow-Siedlce area in Poland. On June 22, 1941, it participated in the invasion of Russia in the vicinity of Brest-Litovsk and advanced in the central sector, via Slonim, Baranovichi, Slutsk, Bobruisk, Rogachev, Rechitsa, Gomel, Mglin, Bryansk, and Zhizdra to the area east of Kaluga. From December 1941 to December 1942 the division took part in defensive actions west of Kaluga, when it was transferred to the Bely area and participated in defensive engagements in the Smolensk and Orsha areas, where it suffered heavy losses, until December 1943. Formation of the 52. Feldausbildungs-Division began on December 20, 1943, in the Baranovichi area from remnants of the 52. Infanterie-Division. Although no records of this division dated later than December 23, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost and records of OKH, Allgemeines Heeresamt (H 37/160), MR 1315, show that the 52. Feldausbildungs-Division was fully organized in the Glubokoye area by March 1944 and was redesignated as the 52. Sicherungs-Division on April 19, 1944. It took part in position defense in the Baranovichi area until July 1944, withdrawing to Gusev (Gumbinnen) to defend East Prussia.

56. Infanterie-Division (56th Infantry Division)

The 56. Infanterie-Division (2. Welle) was activated on August 25, 1939, from reservists in Wehrkreis IV. It was sent to Presov, Slovakia, September 9-11, 1939, to participate in the Polish campaign. After contact with the Russian Army on the Bug River, the division was transferred on September 29 to the Cologne area for training and security of the German-Dutch border. It fought in the western campaign in Holland, Belgium, and France in May and June 1940 and performed occupation duties in the northeastern suburbs of Paris. On September 7, 1940, it moved to Upper Silesia and southwestern Poland for training and reorganization. It returned to the Bug River in June 1941 and took part in the invasion of Russia in the central sector and later in the southern sector, advancing to the Dnieper River where it participated in the encirclement of Kiev in September. In October 1941 the division advanced northeast and fought in the encirclement of Bryansk. From December 1941 until 1943 it was continuously engaged east of Orel, along the Zusha River, and in the battles of Bolkhov, Mtsensk, Novosil, and Verkhovye, where it suffered heavy losses. The division withdrew to the Bryansk and Roslavl areas for rehabilitation, and then defended positions in the Mstislavl area on the Sozh and Vakhra Rivers. From September 1943 until February 1944 it was engaged in position defense and antipartisan operations along the Pronya River in the Chausy area east of Mogilev. On November 15, 1943, the 56. Infanterie-Division and parts of the 262. Infanterie-Division were reorganized as Korpsabteilung D after both divisions suffered heavy losses. Although no records of this unit dated later than February 18, 1944, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it defended the Mogilev area in December 1943 and January 1944, the Polotsk and Chausy areas in February, the Vitebsk area until June, the Svencionys area of Lithuania in July, and the Kaunas area until September. In October 1944 Korpsabteilung D was again redesignated as the 56. Infanterie-Division and defended the Gusev (Gumbinnen) area until January and the Heiligenbeil area until March 1945, when it was probably destroyed.

57. Infanterie-Division (57th Infantry Division)

The 57. Infanterie-Division was formed in the summer of 1939 from reservists. It participated in the campaign against Poland in September 1939 and in the western campaign in May 1940. In June 1941 it was transferred to the southern sector of the eastern front, where it fought in offensive operations from Sokal, Brody, Cherkassy, Kremenchug, Poltava, Kharkov, and Oboyan to Voronezh. In the fall and winter of 1942-43 the division took part in defensive actions and withdrew to the Lebedin-Sumy area. It suffered heavy losses during the summer offensive in the Belgorod-Kharkov area. Although no records of this division dated later than June 30, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it defended the Sumy area in July and August 1943, the Lubny area in September, the Kanev area in October and November, and the area southwest of Cherkassy, where it was encircled in February 1944. The division was re-formed in late April 1944 and assigned to the central sector to defend the Gorki and Rogachev areas until it was again encircled in July 1944. According to the Potsdam catalog the division was disbanded as of August 13, 1944.

The National Archives and Records Service is frequently asked to provide recommendations regarding information to be included in footnotes or other references to records among its holdings. The following suggestions should serve this purpose and also help our staff in locating the records thus cited.

Records

Because of the great variety and complexity of some archival material, there are no convenient models that would be applicable to all records. The initial citation, however, might consist of those of the following elements applicable in each instance: item, file unit, or subseries, series title, originating office (and the administrative units of which that office is a part) name of collection or record group number and title, and depository. Except for placing the cited item first, there is no general agreement on the sequence of the remaining elements in the citation. Publishers, professional journals, and graduate faculties all prescribe their own style. Whatever sequence is adopted, however, should be used consistently throughout the same work. If in doubt, the researcher should confer with an archivist regarding elements that may be necessary to identify adequately specific records being cited.

Microfilm Publications

Citation to records reproduced in National Archives microfilm publications should provide, in general, the same information as suggested above, but with sufficient additional information to identify the particular microfilm publication as well as roll and frame numbers, if applicable.

Microfilm publications of foreign records seized during World War II involve such peculiarities of identification that largely individualized suggested systems of citation have been developed for them. The following examples suggest both a form of initial citation and of subsequent citations of the same document for each of five major microfilm projects reproducing captured German and related records; the form for the bibliography, which is not illustrated below, could be some appropriate modification of the initial citation, but should also include the National Archives record group title and number, i.e., National Archives Collection of World War II War Crimes Records (Nuernberg), Record Group 238, and the number of the microfilm publication; or National Archives Collection of Foreign Records Seized 1941- , Record Group 242, and the number of the microfilm publication.

1. Captured records microfilmed at Alexandria, Virginia.
   Initial citation:
      CdS/Amt IVA1, Ereignismeldung UdSSR, Nr. 194, 20. April 1942, EAP 173-a-10/22a, National Archives Microfilm Publication T175, roll 235, frames 2724202-268.
   Subsequent citations:
      Ereignismeldung UdSSR, Nr. 194, T175/235/2724209-10.
   Initial citation:
      I. AK, Ia, "KTB Nr. 2," Aug.-Oct. 1939, E201/1, National Archives Microfilm Publication T314, roll 34, first frame 389.
   Subsequent citations:
      KTB 2, Aug 17, 1939, T314/34/397.
      Item numbers such as EAP 173-a-10/22a, or OKW 1015 are optional and serial numbers unnecessary. Frames are sometimes unnumbered.

2. Foreign Ministry Archives and records of the Reichskanzlei filmed at Whaddon Hall.
   Initial citation:
      Ambassador in Madrid (Stohrer) to Foreign Ministry, Berlin, Dec. 9, 1940, German Foreign Ministry Archives, Serial 136, frames D674515-516; National Archives Microfilm Publication T120, roll 146.

Subsequent citations:
Stohrer to GFM, 136/D674516, T120/146.
Initial citation:
"Verwaltung besetzter Gebiete in Serbien, 15.11.16-31.7.17," SA Reel 83, National Archives Microfilm Publication T136, roll 83, frames 17-24.
Subsequent citations:
SA/T136/83/19.

The serial number is the essential identification, whether the serial is of the interchangeable unlettered or H serials, or of the B,C,F,K,L and M serials. The terms reel, container or roll are acceptable variations, with the last preferred by the National Archives. With the Tripartite Project microfilm, National Archives Microfilm Publication T120, it is imperative to distinguish between serial and roll numbers, and the Catalog of Files and Microfilm of the German Foreign Ministry Archives, 1920-1945, 4 vols., has as a supplement to each volume, a National Archives serial-roll conversion list. The Public Records Office in London uses the same serial and frame numbers, although not always the same roll numbers, and the microfilm publication symbols GFM 2-5 instead of T120, to identify the Tripartite Project microfilm. The other Whaddon Hall microfilm projects use the same number for serial and roll, as the SA (Saint Antony's College project) serial example, given above, indicates; the National Archives has substituted microfilm publication number for project symbols.

3. Records from the German Naval Archives microfilmed for the United States Navy at the Admiralty, London.
Initial citation:
"Luftschiffangriff auf England, 19-20.10.1917," Az. Kr. Op. Nordsee, 97, PG 64856, TA-108D, National Archives Microfilm Publication T1022, roll 650.
Subsequent citations:
PG 64856, T1022/650.
PG number is the essential record item number; either the TA number or the T1022 roll number is sufficient microfilm identification. There are no frame numbers in this microfilm publication.

4. Heeresarchiv Potsdam records microfilmed at the National Archives.
Initial citation:
Groener to Alarich von Gleich, Papers of General Wilhelm Groener (Groener Nachlass) at the Bundesarchiv Koblenz, National Archives Microfilm Publication M137, roll 7.
Subsequent citations:
Groener to Gleich, M137/7.

5. National Archives microfilm of Nuernberg War Crimes Trial Records.
Initial citation:
OB Suedost to HGr E, "Operation Kreuzotter," 13 Aug 1944, item NOKW-089, National Archives Microfilm Publication T1119, roll 2, frames 17-19.
Subsequent citations:
OB Suedost to HGr E, 13 Aug 44, T1119/2/17.

The National Archives and Records Service will appreciate receiving copies of books and articles based in whole or in part on records in its custody. Such copies should be directed to the Library, NARS, GSA, Washington, DC 20408.

Microfilm copies of one or more rolls of the microfilm may be purchased at the prices listed below. Orders from purchasers in the United States, United States possessions, Canada, and Mexico will be sent without a charge for postage or shipping. Small orders from other foreign purchasers will be sent without a charge for postage. Orders from other foreign purchasers for more than 40 rolls of microfilm will be subject to an additional charge of 5% for shipping.

Checks or money orders for microfilm should accompany the order. They should be made payable to the General Services Administration (NATS) and should be sent to the Cashier, NARS, GSA, Washington, DC 20408. Persons ordering microfilm from outside the United States or its possessions should make their remittance by international money order or check drawn in United States dollars on a bank in the United States and payable to the General Services Administration (NATS). Each order should specify Microfilm Publication T315, the roll number or numbers, and the price.

PREFACE

The Guides to German Records Microfilmed at Alexandria, Va. constitute a series of finding aids describing National Archives microfilm that reproduces seized records of German central, regional, and local government agencies, and of military commands and units, as well as of the Nazi Party, its formation, affiliated associations, and supervised organizations. The records described in the Guides were created generally during the period from 1920 to 1945.

The series was initiated by the Microfilming Project of the Committee for the Study of War Documents of the American Historical Association in cooperation with the National Archives and the Department of the Army. With the termination of AHA participation in July 1963, the National Archives assumed sole responsibility for the reproduction of records and the preparation of Guides.

This Guide is one of many in the series describing the records of the German Army field commands which have been arranged by unit and filmed in discrete microcopies according to their military echelon as follows: Army Groups (Microfilm Publication T311), Armies (T312), Panzer Armies (T313), Corps (T314), Divisions (T315), and Rear Areas, Occupied Territories, and Others (T501).

Guide No. 65 (designated Part V of Guides to German Army divisions--Parts I-IV being Guides 41, 45, 63, and 64) describes the contents of 211 rolls of Microfilm Publication T315 reproducing records of divisions numbered 58 through 96. Future Guides will describe records of divisions numbered above 96. The records in Guide 65 include material on the campaign in Poland in 1939, the campaign in Norway in 1940, the western campaigns in 1940 and 1944-45, the Balkan campaign in 1941, the campaign against the Soviet Union from 1941 to 1945, the North African campaign from 1941 to 1943, the campaign in Italy from 1943 to 1945, occupation duty in Norway from 1940 to 1942, and occupation and coastal security duty in France, Belgium, and the Netherlands from 1940 to 1943.

The provenance to which each record item is attributed is the unit headquarters that created it (i.e., kept it on file), although a large proportion of the items had in fact already been retired to depositories of the Heeresarchiv Potsdam. There accession numbers were assigned and stamped or written on the covers in the order received, and the records were then cataloged by unit in the so-called "Potsdam Catalog." By the time the records reached the United States, they were in rough arrangement by unit. The National Archives has retained this system inherited from its various American predecessor organizations, taking advantage of the circumstance that the original Potsdam catalogs were acquired along with the seized field command records. The AHA and National Archives also followed this arrangement in their joint and separate microfilm projects; however, some record items were filmed out of sequence because of subsequent declassification or the discovery of previously mislaid or temporarily unavailable material, which accounts for the occasional break in continuity of roll numbers in the Guides. Record items not yet retired to the Heeresarchiv depositories at the time of capture were assigned accession numbers above 75,000 by American custodians in extension of the original Potsdam numbering scheme.

Considerable information on the fate of Germany's military archives during World War II, including documentation of efforts to reconstruct records destroyed in several wartime fires, may be found in the files of the Chef des Heeresarchivs, OKH, filmed as Microfilm Publication T78, Rolls 1-38 and described in Guide No. 12 of the series.

Although the records of these divisions have been filmed selectively, the war journals (Kriegstagebücher) and activity reports (Tätigkeitsberichte) and their annexes (Anlagen) of the Operations (Ia) and Intelligence (Ic) staff sections, wherever available, were filmed in entirety. A few records of the Supply, Administrative, Medical, Personnel, and Judge Advocate staff sections assigned to division headquarters were filmed for those units whose operations and intelligence files were incomplete or missing. Map annexes (Kartenanlagen) consisting exclusively of large maps difficult to put on microfilm were generally omitted; maps interspersed among and integrated with the textual records were filmed in several overlapping sections, which, along with the loss of color markings, detracts considerably from their value and ease of use.

A unit history precedes the file item listing for each division. These histories are a revised and expanded form of the shorter unit histories filmed at the beginning of every roll reproducing the records of each unit. The unit histories are based on information found in the records, in the Potsdam catalogs, and on contemporary German daily situation maps, supplementing or correcting the brief histories given in the Order of Battle of the German Army, War Department, Washington, March 1945. A data card describing each filmed record item has been filmed immediately preceding the folder it describes, and the cards for all folders on one roll of film are again filmed as a finding aid at the beginning of that roll. The information contained on these cards was used as a reference in compiling descriptive entries for the Guide, but considerable revision was undertaken because so many of these card descriptions were prepared hastily to maintain pace with filming and restitution schedules.

The term "Roll" in the Guide refers to the sequence of the film; "1st Frame" gives the frame number of the first page of the folder; "Item No." is the identification symbol on the original folder. The "Item" provides (a) the abbreviation of the staff section that originated the document, (b) the title appearing on the folder cover, and (c) additional information providing a general description of the contents. The inclusive dates of the file item are given under a "Date" column.

The original records, filmed and unfilmed, have been returned to the Federal Republic of Germany for deposit in the Bundesarchiv-Militärarchiv in Freiburg. The master negatives of Microfilm Publication T315 have been deposited with the Publications Sales Branch, National Archives, Washington, D.C. 20408, from which copies of specific rolls may be purchased. Reference copies may be consulted in the microfilm reading room of the National Archives. For suggestions for citing microfilm see page 142.

The descriptions in this Guide were prepared by Anton F. Grassl, George Wagner, and Petronilla Hawes under the supervision of Donald E. Spencer.

58. Infanterie-Division (58th Infantry Division)

The 58. Infanterie-Division (2. Welle) was formed from reservists in Lüneburg, Wehrkreis X, in August 1939. In September 1939 it was transferred to the Trier area, and during the spring of 1940 it secured the area between the Moselle and Saar Rivers. On May 18, 1940, the division participated in the western campaign in the area south of Sedan. In July 1940 it was transferred to Belgium for occupation duty and in April 1941, to East Prussia. The division invaded Lithuania near Tilsit in June 1941, advancing through Lithuania and Latvia to the Plyussa River sector and then engaged in offensive battles for Narva, Kingisepp, Volosovo, and Kranoye Salo and took part in position defense in the Leningrad area until the latter part of February 1942 when it moved to the Novgorod area for the offensive along the Volkhov River. The division transferred in July 1942 to the Oranienbaum front for its defense until the end of November 1942, when it again transferred to the Staraya Russa area and participated in defensive operations south and east of Lake Ilmen. In March 1943 the division moved to the Gatchina area for defensive operations around Mga and the securing of the Oranienbaum front. In the fall of 1943 it participated in offensives in the Nevel area. In early 1944 the division returned to the northern sector where it took part in the forest battles north of the Plyussa River, offensive and defensive engagements on the Narva front, the summer battle in the Dvina River area, and the defense of the Memel bridgehead. In 1945 the division fought in offensive and defensive actions in Samland.

The 60. Infanterie-Division was organized during October and November 1939 in Danzig from units of Gruppe Eberhardt, which had fought in the Polish campaign, and with additional personnel from Wehrkreis I, II, III, and VI. During the winter of 1939-40 it was transferred to the Saarbrücken area for training and preparation for the invasion of France. In May and June 1940 it participated in the western campaign with frontal attacks against the Maginot Line along the Saar River. During July 1940 the division withdrew from France and moved to Danzig, where it was reorganized and trained as a motorized infantry division until November 1940 when it was transferred to Vienna for winter training. Transferred by train to Rumania during February 1941, the division marched to the Bulgarian-Yugoslav border, and there took part in the campaign against Yugoslavia. After the Balkan campaign, in the latter part of May 1941, it returned to Vienna for rehabilitation, and in mid-June of the same year was transferred to Brieg and Breslau, from where it marched to Ternopol. On July 7, 1941, the division engaged in offensives in the Berdichev and Fastov areas in the southern sector of the eastern front and between August and December 1941 it advanced to Dnepropetrovsk, Taganrog, and Rostov. Although there are no records of the division covering the period January 1942 to January 1943 or dated later than December 1943, the records of the Oberkommando des Heeres, Allgemeines Heeresamt, Abwicklungsstab (H41/12, T-78, Roll 139), show that the division participated in a major counterattack north of Stalino in March 1942 and in the summer offensive in the Don River Bend, advancing to the Volga River in August. It fought in the battle of Stalingrad from September 1942 to January 1943, where it was destroyed.

The 60. Infanterie-Division (mot.) was reconstituted in southern France in April 1943. It was redesignated as the 60. Panzergrenadier-Division on May 25, 1943, and again redesignated on June 20, 1943, as Panzergrenadier-Division Feldherrnhalle. /A few records of Panzergrenadier-Division Feldherrnhalle covering the period February 23 to December 11, 1943, were microfilmed on Roll 2301 and will be described in a forthcoming Guide on the "name" divisions./ The division took part in disarming the Italian Army in the Nice area in September 1943 and moved to Arras in northern France. It transferred to the central sector of the eastern front in December 1943 to participate in the major defensive battle around Vitebsk and moved to the Narva area in February 1944 for its defense until May 1944, when it returned to the Mogilev area for rehabilitation. It was under the command of Gen.Lt. Otto Kohlermann from May 15, 1942 to April 3, 1944, and under Gen.Maj. Friedrich-Carl von Steinkeller thereafter. The division participated in operations from its position east of the Dnieper River near Mogilev to the area southeast of Minsk from June 24 to July 7, 1944. From July 1944 elements of the division took part in rearguard action in the Minsk area while other elements were designated Kampfgruppe Feldherrnhalle and defended the Kaunas area from July 20 to August 31, 1944. The division was reassembled and transferred to Hungary in September 1944 at which time Panzerbrigade 110 Feldherrnhalle was formed in Hungary. Both these units, together with the IX. Panzerkorps, were united as Panzerkorps Feldherrnhalle and committed to the defense of Budapest from October to December 1944. According to situation maps of Heeresgruppe Süd the division participated in defensive actions while withdrawing to Nove Zamky, Bratislava, and Znojmo from January to April 1945.

61. Infanterie-Division (61st Infantry Division)

The 61. Infanterie-Division was activated on August 16, 1939, from reservists in East Prussia. It participated in the campaign against Poland in September and October 1939, and during November 1939 was transferred to the Belgian-German border for training and preparation for the western campaign. On May 10, 1940, the division took part in the surprise attack on Fort Eben-Emael, advanced through Belgium and northern France, and participated in the battle of Dunkirk. After the cessation of hostilities it performed occupation duties on the coast of Brittany between Lorient and Quimper. During February 1941 the division was transferred to East Prussia for training and preparation for the campaign against Russia, in which it fought through the Baltic States and northern sector of the eastern front to Narva, Mga, Kirishi, and Tikhvin on the Tikhvinka River. The division withdrew to the Volkhov River during December 1941 and January 1942, and was continuously engaged in position defense on the Leningrad-Volkhov front south of Lake Ladoga, from January 1942 until December 1943 with a few days of recuperation and changing of positions between battles. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than January 12, 1944, the situation maps of Heeresgruppen Nord and Weichsel show that the division withdrew in January 1944 from the Leningrad area to Narva and through the Baltic States to East Prussia where it opposed the Soviet winter offensive from January to March 1945 at which time it was encircled and captured.

62. Infanterie-Division (62d Infantry Division)

The 62. Infanterie-Division (2. Welle) was formed in the summer of 1939 from reservists in Wehrkreis VIII. After the Polish campaign in September 1939, the division was transferred to the Euskirchen-Düren area for participation in the western campaign, advancing from St.Vith, Belgium, to Orléans on the Loire River. In July 1940 it was transferred from the Troyes area to the Chelm area in Poland. On June 22, 1941, the division invaded Russia near Kovel and advanced to Belgorod via Sarny, Korosten, Lubny, Mirgorod, Poltava, and Akhtyrka. During the winter and spring of 1942 it took part in operations south of Kharkov and from June to November 1942 in the defense of the Don River area around Boguchar. The division withdrew in January 1943 to defend the Donets River sector in the Voroshilovgrad area. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than June 30, 1943, the situation maps of Heeresgruppe Süd show that the division participated in position defense in the Lisichansk area from January to September 1943, the Dnieper River sector near Verkhne-Dneprovsk in October and November 1943, the Krivoi Rog area from December 1943 to February 1944, and the Dniester River sector from March to June 1944 and in the withdrawal to the Kronstadt area via Komrat in July and August 1944. According to OCMH Study B-28 the division had been redesignated as a Volksgrenadier-Division and transferred to the Eifel area in November 1944 where it took part in the Ardennes counteroffensive in the St.Vith area in December 1944. The division withdrew to Germany and participated in the defense of the Eifel area in January 1945.

65. Infanterie-Division (65th Infantry Division)

The 65. Infanterie-Division was formed as a two-regiment division (Grenadier-Regimente 145 and 146) in July 1942 at Bitche, France. In the latter part of July it was transferred to the Antwerp-Vlissingen area for the defense of Antwerp, the Scheldt River estuary, and the islands in the estuary. On June 8, 1943, it became an army reserve division and was transferred to the Lille, Bethune, and St. Omer areas where it was reorganized and trained for service on the eastern front, but was transferred instead on August 1, 1943, via Villach, Austria, to Italy. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than August 1, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Südwest and Italien show that the division participated in position defense in the Pescara area from October to December 1943. It was moved to the south of Rome in January 1944 and took part in the defense of Rome until May 1944, when it withdrew northward and defended the Florence, Pisa, Lucca, and Pistoia areas from June to October 1944 and the Bologna area from November 1944 to April 1945.

68. Infanterie-Division (68th Infantry Division)

This division (2. Welle) was activated from reservists in Wehrkreis III in the summer of 1939 and participated in the Polish campaign as an army reserve unit until September 9, when it advanced across the Vistula River to the Krasnik area. After the Polish campaign, the division was transferred to the Przemysl and Jaroslaw area for border security and training. On June 22, 1941, it invaded Russia near Jaroslaw and advanced via Yavorov, Zolochev, Staro-Konstantinov, Boguslav, Zolotonosha, Krasnograd, and Merefa to Kharkov by October 1941. The division was then entrusted with the occupation and defense of this city and its perimeter until December 1941, when it was transferred to the Slavyansk-Kramatorsk area for defensive action there and in the Izyum area until July 1942. At this time the division moved to the Voronezh area for defensive operations. In February 1943 the division participated in defensive action during withdrawal to Sumy via Stary Oskol, Tim, and Oboyan and defended the area southwest of Sumy. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than June 30, 1943, the situation maps of Heeresgruppen Süd and Südukraine show that it defended the Sumy and Romny areas until September 1943, the Kiev area along the Dnieper River in October and November 1943, then withdrew across the Ukraine and Poland via Zhitomir, Kamenets Podolski, Kolomyya, Lvov, Rzeszow, and Sosnowiec to Silesia from December 1943 to January 1945.

69. Infanterie-Division (69th Infantry Division)

The 69. Infanterie-Division (2. Welle) was formed from reservists in Münster, Wehrkreis VI, in the summer of 1939. In April 1940 it took part in the campaign in Norway and remained in Bergen for occupation duties and training until early November 1942, when it was transferred, via Oslo and Stettin to the Tosno and Chudovo areas on the Volkhov River front in Russia. The division was continuously engaged in position defense in the Mga area until October 1943, when it was transferred to the central sector of the eastern front for operations in the vicinity of Nevel. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than December 31, 1943, the situation maps of Heeresgruppen Nord and Mitte show that the division was northwest of Nevel until the spring of 1944, withdrawing in the summer of 1944 to the Alderswalde area of East Prussia, where it remained until early January 1945. It was destroyed east of Königsberg in late January 1945.

72. Infanterie-Division (72d Infantry Division)

This division was activated in 1938 as Grenzkommando Trier (Trier Frontier Command) in Wehrkreis XII. In the summer of 1939 it was reorganized as the 72. Infanterie-Division by incorporating two active infantry regiments and one reserve regiment. The division participated in the western campaign in May 1940 and was temporarily charged with the occupation and control of the central district of Paris. After the Balkan campaign in April 1941, the division was employed in the southern sector of the Russian front in the summer of 1941, taking part in battles for the Crimea. It was transferred to the central sector of the eastern front in August 1942 for defensive action in the Sychevka-Zubtsov area. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than January 7, 1943, the situation maps of Heeresgruppen Mitte, Süd, and Südukraine show that the division participated in the Kursk offensive in the summer of 1943, transferring to the southern sector in October 1943. It took part in defensive action in the Smela-Shpola area from November 1943 to February 1944, withdrawing to defend the area south of Kovel from March to June 1944. The division withdrew to southern Poland via Zamosc and Opatow between July 1944 and January 1945.

73. Infanterie-Division (73d Infantry Division)

The 73. Infanterie-Division (2. Welle) was formed from reservists in Würzburg, Wehrkreis XIII, in the summer of 1939. In September of that year it was engaged in the campaign in Poland. In May 1940 it took part in the western campaign, and after the cessation of hostilities it participated in occupation duties in the Besancon area. Early in December 1940 the division was transferred to the Vosges Mountains for mountain training, and on February 20, 1941, it moved to Bucharest, Rumania. In March 1941 the division marched through Bulgaria to the Bulgarian-Yugoslav border for the Balkan campaign. On April 6, 1941, the division took part in the invasion of Yugoslavia, advancing through southern Yugoslavia into northern Greece as far as Kozani. It remained in Greece for occupation duties in May and June 1941, when it returned to Yugoslavia. In July the division marched from Belgrade through Bucharest, Focsani, Bacau, and Kishinev to an area northwest of Odessa for combat operations against Russia on July 15, 1941, advancing through the southern Ukraine into the Crimea and participating in the capture of Kerch. In November 1941 the division was transferred to the Melitopol areas, took part in the battle of Rostov, and advanced south to Novorossisk where it engaged in position defense until June 1943. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than June 30, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost and Heeresgruppen A, Süd, Mitte, and Weichsel show that on July 1, 1943, the division was north of Novorossisk as part of Kampfgruppe von Bünau (with the Rumanian 1st Mountain Division). It was in the eastern Crimea north of Feodosiya on October 1, moving to the Melitopol area later in the month with part of the division defending the northeastern coastal area of the Crimea. The division was in the Lower Dnieper area between Kherson and Zaporozhe in early November 1943, remaining in the Lower Dnieper area until early 1944. It returned to the Kerch Peninsula in February, withdrawing to Sevastopol for evacuation in late April and early May 1944. From July to October 1944 the division defended Warsaw, then retreated westward to Gabin. It was at Torun for rehabilitation in January 1945, withdrawing to the area west of Stargard in early March 1945.

75. Infanterie-Division (75th Infantry Division)

The 75. Infanterie-Division (2. Welle) was formed from reservists in Schwerin, Wehrkreis II, on August 25, 1939. In September 1939 it was transferred to the Truppenübungsplatz Baumholder for training and later that year to the Saarbrücken area for border security along the Saar River. In May and June 1940 the division participated in the western campaign with frontal attacks against the Maginot Line, advancing south to the Besancon area after the breakthrough of the Line. After cessation of hostilities part of the division marched to Saarbrücken and part to Bruchsal for entraining and movement to southern Poland in the Lublin and Zamosc areas for training and preparation for Operation "Barbarossa" (invasion of Russia). On June 22, 1941, it took part in this invasion in the southern sector by crossing the Bug River and advancing to Sokal, Dubno, and Berdichev, and participated in the encirclement of Kiev, after which it advanced northeast to Romny, Sumy, Belgorod, and Voronezh. In September 1942 the division took Voronezh and in October of the same year it withdrew west toward Sumy for its defense until the summer of 1943 and then to the Dnieper River in the Kiev area. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than December 31, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost and Heeresgruppe Mitte show that the division was in the Vasilkov area south of Kiev in January 1944, withdrawing to Berdichev in March, Proskurov in May, Stanislav in July, and Borislav in August 1944. It had withdrawn to the vicinity of Cracow by early January 1945 and to the Ostrava area in northeastern Moravia in late April 1945.

76. Infanterie-Division (76th Infantry Division)

The 76. Infanterie-Division (2. Welle) was formed from reservists in the summer of 1939 in Berlin, Wehrkreis III. It took part in the western campaign in the latter part of May 1940 with attacks on the Maginot Line, the capture of Verdun, and offensives in the Toul, Nancy, and St.Dizier areas. In July 1940 the division was transferred to the East (no destination given).* In May and June 1941 the division was in Moldavia for training and preparations for Operation "München" (invasion of Russia from Rumania) and advanced to the Slavyansk-Artemovsk area via Mogilev-Podolski, Uman, Kirovograd, Krasnograd, and Izyum, where it fought in defensive actions in the winter and spring of 1942. In the summer of 1942 the division advanced to and took part in the battle for Stalingrad and was destroyed in January 1943. In March 1943 the division was reformed in the Redon, Nantes, and Vannes areas for the defense of the French coast and the submarine base at St.Nazaire. In July 1943 it was transferred to the Savona-Genoa area for the security of northern Italy. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than October 20, 1943, the situation maps of Heeresgruppe Süd show that the division returned to the southern sector of the eastern front for position defense in the Krivoi Rog area from November 1943 to February 1944. It withdrew to Hungary via Balta, Bendery, and Jassy between March and September 1944 where it remained until January 1945. The division was in the Lucenec area of southern Slovakia in late January and at Uherske Hradiste, Czechoslovakia, on April 26, 1945.

78. Sturm-Division (78th Assault Division)

This division was formed as the 78. Infanterie-Division from reservists in Ulm, Wehrkreis V, in August 1939. In September 1939 it was transferred to Kehl and Altenhun for border security duty along the Rhine River, and, in December of the same year, to the Black Forest area between Hechingen and Freudenstadt for training. In May 1940 it was scheduled to participate in the western campaign; however, because of an epidemic of erysipelas (Rotlaufseuche) among the horses, the division remained in the Black Forest area until May 25, 1940, when it was transferred to the Bitburg area and marched through Luxembourg and eastern Belgium to Sedan and Rheims, France. It performed occupation duty and training in France until April 1941 when it was transferred to southern Poland for training and preparation for the Russian campaign. On June 22, 1941, it participated in offensives in the central sector of the eastern front, crossing the Bug River and advancing to Bialowieza, Slonim, Baranovichi, Sloboda, Berezino, Staryy Bykov, Yelnya, Vyazma, Gzhatsk, Ruza, and Mozhaisk on the Moskva River. It suffered heavy losses during the winter of 1941-42 in operations along the Moskva River and in retreat to the Gzhatsk area. In the latter part of December 1942 the division was transferred to Smolensk for rehabilitation and reorganization. It was redesignated the 78. Sturm-Division on January 1, 1943, and its regiments were renamed Sturm-Regimente. In February 1943 the division was transferred to the Orel area, between Kromy and Fatezh, and in the summer of the same year it was engaged in the Kursk offensive. Although there are no records of the division available dated later than July 4, 1943, the situation maps of Lage Ost show that the division was transferred in the fall of 1943 to the Orsha area, defended this area until April 1944 and the Vitebsk area in May and June 1944. Reformed as the 78. Grenadier-Division in July 1944, it fought in the Mielec, Dabrowa Tarnowska, and Jaslo areas of Poland until October 1944, when the division was again redesignated as the 78. Volksgrenadier-Division. From October 1944 to January 1945 it took part in position defense in the Tarnow area. In January 1945 the division became the 78. Volkssturm-Division and fought in the Strumien, Ostrava, and Krnov areas until April 1945.

79. Infanterie-Division (Volksgrenadier) (79th Infantry Division /Volks Grenadier/)

The 79. Infanterie-Division (2. Welle) was formed in August 1939 in Hesse and went to the Saar sector for training and security of the German-French border in October 1939. The division invaded France on May 10, 1940, and took part in offensives across the Rhine-Marne Canal near Parroy and the Moselle River at Châtel. At the end of May it withdrew to the Saar area, and in June it participated in the attacks on the Maginot Line and ended the campaign with the capture and occupation of Epinal. On June 25, 1940, it transferred to the Troyes-Brienne-le-Château area and in August to the Langres, Joinville, and St.Dizier areas for occupation duty. In April 1941 the division was ordered to the Klagenfurt-Wolfsberg area. Arriving too late to participate in the Balkan campaign, it remained in southern Austria for training until its transfer in June 1941 to Poland. The division took part in the Russian campaign, southern sector, in the latter part of June 1941, advancing from Zamosc, Poland, to the Belgorod area via Korosten, Lutsk, Rovno, Piryatin, and Akhtyrka. From November 1941 to June 1942 it fought in the Belgorod and Volchansk areas. The division then advanced from Volchansk via Valuiki, Rovenki, and Serafimovich to the Stalingrad area where from October 1942 to January 1943 it took part in the battle of Stalingrad. In January 1943 the division staff was withdrawn and the division was rehabilitated in the Taganrog and Mariupol areas. From May 1943 to January 1944 it participated in defensive actions in the Kuban, Melitopol, and Nikopol areas, transferring in January 1944 to the Berislav area for rehabilitation. Although no records of the division for the period February to August 1944 are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it withdrew from Berislav to the Beltsy area in the spring of 1944 and to the Zalau area in northwest Rumania by August 1944. According to the records of OKH, Allgemeines Heeresamt, Abwicklungsstab, T78, Roll 142, (H41/57), disbandment of components of the division began on October 24, 1944. On October 31, 1944, the division was redesignated as the 79. Volksgrenadier-Division in Thorn, Poland, and was transferred to the Mayen area.

81. Infanterie-Division (81st Infantry Division)

The 81. Infanterie-Division was formed on December 1, 1939, in Sagan, Wehrkreis VIII, and was trained at the Truppenübungsplatz Neuhammer. In May and June 1940 it took part in the western campaign. After advancing through Belgium and northern France, it participated in operations at the Oise-Aisne Canal, Chemin des Dames, and in the pursuit over the Marne, Seine, and Loire Rivers up to the Cher River. In July 1940 the division was sent back to Silesia for rest and reequipping. In February 1941 it returned to France for coastal defense duties in the La Rochelle area. In December 1941 the division was transferred to the northern sector of the eastern front to prevent the encirclement of Staraya Russa by Russian forces. In April and May 1942 parts of the division participated in defensive operations in the Demyansk pocket. After certain changes in organization during the summer of 1942 the division was assigned in July to defend the corridor between the Demyansk pocket and the main German front fighting continuously against extremely heavy enemy pressure until it was relieved. In January 1943, after a temporary assignment to its quarters in Staraya Russa, the division was transferred to the area south of Chudovo on the Volkhov River. The division took part in defensive operations from February to August 1943 and in offensive action in September along the Volkhov River between Chudovo and Kirishi. In the latter part of September it participated in Operation "Hubertusjagd" (disengagement movement from the bridgehead near Kirishi). In October it moved to Pushkin to defend this area and in November withdrew to defend the Nevel area until the end of 1943. Although no records of the division dated later than December 31, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it was engaged in position defense near Pustoshka from January to June 1944 and in the Griva, Yelgava, and Tukums areas in Latvia from July 1944 to the end of April 1945.

82. Infanterie-Division (82d Infantry Division)

The 82. Infanterie-Division (5. Welle) was formed from reservists in Kassel, Wehrkreis IX, on December 1, 1939, and was transferred in January 1940 to the Wildflecken area for training. On May 5, 1940, the division was moved by train to the Bitburg area and marched to Charleville via Vianden, Hompre, Wiltz, and Neufchâteau. On May 31 it began offensive operations from Charleville to Gray via Rethel, Chalons, Touls, and Langres. The division returned to the Wildflecken area in July. On February 15, 1941, it was transferred to the Breda, Rotterdam, Dordrecht, Utrecht, and Haarlem areas to relieve the 197. Infanterie-Division and took over the functions of the Kommandeur der Truppen des Heeres in den Niederlanden from Höheres Kommando z.b.V. XXXVII on March 14, 1941, when it assumed custody of certain records which the 197. Infanterie-Division (items 11462/1-3, 5-15, and 17) administered in connection with the occupation of the Netherlands. Höheres Kommando z.b.V. XXXVII was transferred to Belgium and northern France and the 197. Infanterie-Division to Poland. On August 25, 1941, the division was assigned to the Alkmaar, Groningen, Velsen, Leiden, and Den Helder areas for training and coastal defense. The 82. Infanterie-Division remained as the Kommandeur der Truppen des Heeres in den Niederlanden until April 30, 1942, when it was relieved of its command by the 167. Infanterie-Division. In May 1942 the division was sent to the Kursk assembly area on the eastern front. It took part in offensives in the Tim River sector near Volovchik and advanced to the area north of Kastornoye, then participated in defensive operations in the Kastornoye area from July 1942 to January 1943. It withdrew to the area north of Rylsk in the latter part of March and defended this area until the summer of 1943. Although no records of the division dated later than June 1943 are available, situation maps of Heeresgruppe Süd show that it participated in position defense in the Rylsk area until August 1943 and in defensive actions east of Glukhov in August and September, in the Kiev area from October to December 1943, and in the Gaisin and Kamenets Podolski areas from January to March 1944. The division was encircled and presumably captured in the Bershchev-Chortkov area during April 1944.

83. Infanterie-Division (83d Infantry Division)

The 83. Infanterie-Division (6. Welle) was formed from reservists on December 22, 1939, in Wehrkreis XI, and received its training at the Truppenübungsplatz Bergen near Celle. In January 1940 it was transferred to Fallingbostel, on February 15, to Uelzen, and in March of the same year, to Einbeck on the Weser River for training. On May 14, 1940, it moved to the Dutch border, crossing the border on May 18 through southern Holland, Belgium, and northern France, and participated in offensive operations from the Seine to the Loire Rivers. In July 1940, after the western campaign, the division returned to its home station in Fallingbostel for rehabilitation and reorganization and went to the Harz Mountain area for training. In February 1941 the division was again stationed in France, at Rennes in Brittany, where it participated in coastal security activities, after which it was sent to Valognes for coastal security duties in Normandy and on the Island of Alderney. In December 1941 and January 1942 it was transferred to the central sector of the eastern front, and fought continuously in the Velikiye Luki and Nevel areas until January 1943 when it moved to Vitebsk and participated in defensive operations in the Velizh area. In July 1943 it was ordered to Novosokolniki for defensive operations to protect the important railroad junction. Although no records of this division dated later than December 31, 1943, are available, situation maps of Heeresgruppe Mitte and Nord show that it took part in defensive engagements in the area west of Velikiye Luki from January to March 1944. The division was transferred to the northern sector in early April, participating in defensive actions in the area south of Ostrov until May, in the Gulbene area from June to September, east of Riga in October, in the Frauenburg and Skrunda areas, East Prussia, from November to December 1944, and in the area northeast of Stettin in January 1945, when it was probably disbanded.

86. Infanterie-Division (86th Infantry Division)

The 86. Infanterie-Division (5. Welle) was formed from reservists on August 28, 1939, in Wehrkreis VI. It was transferred in September to the French border between the Saar and Moselle Rivers for border security duties and in January 1940 to the Truppenübungsplatz Grafenwöhr for training. The division entrained in April 1940 in Nürnberg for movement to the Luxembourg border south of Trier, and after May 10, 1940, it marched through Luxembourg and southeastern Belgium to Sedan, France, participating in offensive operations along the Aisne River from Rethel to the Besancon area. After cessation of hostilities it moved to the Blois and Bourges areas for occupation duties. Between June 20 and 27, 1941, the division was ordered to the Gumbinnen (Gusev) area in East Prussia and fought in the Russian campaign in the central sector, advancing east to Kaunas, Polotsk, Gorodok, Vitebsk, Smolensk, and Kalinin on the Volga River. It withdrew to the Rzhev area during the winter of 1941-42 and was continuously engaged in defensive battles southwest of Rzhev and northeast of Bely between the Obsha and Luchesa Rivers until the end of 1942. Although no records of the division dated later than December 31, 1942, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it participated in defensive actions in the Bely area from January to March 1943, in the Ponyri area from April to July, and in the Sevsk area in August. The division was reformed as a Kampfgruppe and defended the Starodub area in September, the Chernigov area in October, and the Mozyr area in November 1943, when it was probably destroyed.

87. Infanterie-Division (87th Infantry Division)

The 87. Infanterie-Division (5. Welle) was formed from reservists in the summer of 1939 in Wehrkreise IV and IX. It moved from Saxony and Thuringia to the Trier area in September 1939. In January 1940 the division was transferred to the Magdeburg and Brandenburg areas for training and in March to the area east of Cologne and north of Siegburg. The division took part in the western campaign in May 1940 advancing to (and occupying) Paris via Grandrieux, Corbier, Froissy, Le Hamel, St.Martin-aux-Bois, Fleurines, Verneuil, Senlis, and St.Denis. From June 1940 to March 1941 it was first in the Laon-St.Quentin area, then in the Le Mans area, and finally in the Blois-Orléans area. In March 1941 the division was transferred to the Lublewo area in Poland. On Jun 22, 1941, it participated on the eastern front, central sector, by breaking through the Russian border fortifications in the Bialystok area, by offensive engagements in the Grodno and Minsk areas, and by the encirclement and destruction of a Russian cavalry division southwest of Osipovichi. In the latter part of August 1941 the division moved to the Smolensk area for defensive engagements east of Dorogobuzh along the Loynya River. In October 1941 it participated in attack and pursuit engagements to close the Vyazma pocket and advanced to the Ruza area via Gzhatsk, where it took part in defensive actions. In November it advanced to the junction of the Moskva and Istra Rivers and in December withdrew to winter positions in the Gzhatsk area. In June 1942 the division participated in the encirclement southwest of Rzhev and continued defensive operations in this area until February 1943 when it withdrew to the Izdeshkovo-Demidov area, and, at the end of March, to the Liozno area for rehabilitation. From May 1942 through December 1943 it took part in defensive engagements, first in the Vitebsk area, then in the Velizh area, and finally in the area south of Nevel. Although no records of this division dated later than December 31, 1943, are available, situation maps of Heeresgruppen Mitte, Nord, and Kurland show that it participated in defensive engagements in the Polotsk area from January to June 1944 and in the Daugavpils area in July. The division was transferred to the northern sector in August 1944 and took part in defensive engagements west of Lake Peipus in August and September and in the Riga area in October. The division participated in position defense in the Libau (Liepaja) area from November 1944 to April 19, 1945, when it was probably captured.

88. Infanterie-Division (88th Infantry Division)

The 88. Infanterie-Division (6. Welle) was formed from reservists on December 1, 1939, in Grafenwöhr, Wehrkreis XIII, and received its training with Czech weapons. On May 15, 1940, it moved to Trier, marched through Luxembourg and southeastern Belgium to Sedan, France, and, from June 1, participated in offensive operations on the Oise-Aisne Canal in the vicinity of Montigny-sur-Crécy, Laon, and Troissy on the Marne River to Champoulet, until hostilities ceased on June 25, 1940. In July 1940 it was transferred via Nancy and Zweibrücken to Dinkelsbühl for reorganization and training with new weapons. In February 1941 the division was again transferred to France, to Biarritz on the Bay of Biscay for coastal defense and security duty on the French-Spanish border. On December 17, 1941, it entrained in Bayonne for movement to the southern sector of the eastern front, to Kiev, and to Kursk for defensive actions between Belgorod and Kharkov. The division fought continuously between the Seim and Oskol Rivers from January 1942 to January 1943 when it was encircled by Russian forces between Voronezh and Kursk; however, it was able to break through with the aid of the XIII. Armeekorps, suffering heavy losses during this period, and withdrew to the Rylsk area. The division regrouped in the Rylsk area and engaged in antipartisan and defensive operations in that area until June 1943. Although no records of this division dated later than June 30, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it defended the Rylsk area in July and August 1943 and from September to November the areas northeast of Yagotin, southeast of Kiev, and east of Zhitomir. The division took part in position defense in the Belaya Tserkov area until it was encircled in February 1944 east of Cherkassy and returned to the central sector in May after reorganization. It defended the Vladimir Volynski area from May to July, the area west of Lvov in August, and the Opatow area from September to December. The division withdrew to east of Radom in January 1945.

90. Panzergrenadier-Division (90th Panzer Grenadier Division)

This division was activated as Divisionskommando z.b.V. Afrika (Division for Special Employment in Africa) on June 26, 1941, in Berlin-Tempelhof and was also known as the 90. le. Infanterie-Division. It was transferred in August and September 1941 via Bayreuth and Naples to Tripoli, Libya, and marched to Bardia on the Egyptian border to participate in offensive operations against Tobruk. In October 1941 it retreated to Bengasi and Agedabia, and on November 26, 1941, was reorganized and redesignated as the 90. le. Afrika Division. In the summer of 1942 it was engaged in offensive operations from Cirenaica into Egypt as far as El Alamein, and from September 1942 to April 1943 it retreated from Egypt, through Libya, to northern Tunisia where it was virtually destroyed in May 1943. Although no records of this division for the period April 20 to August 19, 1943, are available, the Potsdam catalog shows that it was re-formed with miscellaneous units in Sardinia as Stammbrigade XI until May 11, 1943, then as Division Sardinien (Sardinia Division). On May 26, 1943, the division was redesignated as the 90. Panzergrenadier Division and functioned as Kommando Sardinien until September 15. In the autumn of 1943 it withdrew to Corsica and later to northern Italy where it participated in construction of defensive positions in the Vicenza area. The division defended the Lugo, Cesena, Imola, and Bologna areas from September 1944 to April 1945, transferring to Rosenheim, Germany, in April 1945.

93. Infanterie-Division (93d Infantry Division)

The 93. Infanterie-Division (5. Welle) was formed from reservists on September 17, 1939, in Jüterbog, Wehrkreis III, and was transferred in November to the Bad Kreuznach area and later to the Saarbrücken area for training. In May 1940 the division participated in the French campaign, crossing the border near Tromborn, penetrating the Maginot Line at St. Avold, and advancing to Portieux. On July 17, 1940, it was ordered back to Wehrkreis III in the Cottbus area, where about 40% of the division personnel were on leave for employment in the national economy until February 1941. The division returned to France for occupation duty in the Amiens area from March to July 1941, when it was transferred to Gumbinnen (Gusev), East Prussia, for the Russian campaign. It was on the eastern front, northern sector, from July 1941, where it fought its way through Estonia to the Oranienbaum front and participated in position warfare on this front from October 1941 to April 1942. The division moved to the Volkhov front, to the so-called Pogost'ye pocket in April 1942. In October 1942 it was transferred to the Temny Bor, Loknya, and Yukovo areas for defensive operations in the Lovat River and Loknya River sectors until the end of 1943. Although no records of this division dated later than December 31, 1943, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost show that it defended the Podbereze and Loknya areas from January to March 1944. It took part in position defense in the Novorzhev area from April to July, in the Yelgava area from August to October, in the Saldus area from October to December 1944, and in the Liepaja area in January and February 1945. The division moved to East Prussia in February and defended the Pillau area until the latter part of April 1945.

94. Infanterie-Division (94th Infantry Division)

The 94. Infanterie-Division was formed in September 1939 in Wehrkreis IV and received its training in the Truppenübungsplatz Königsbrück. In October and November 1939 it was transferred to Landau for security duty on the French border in the vicinity of Klingenmünster and Weissenburg. In the spring of 1940 it moved to the Truppenübungsplatz Baumholder for training. On May 15 its participation in the western campaign began. The division marched through Luxembourg and Belgium into northern France, and had advanced to Châtellerault on the Vienne River when hostilities ceased on June 25, 1940. In August 1940 it was ordered to Zittau, Wehrkreis IV, where part of the division personnel were on leave for employment in the national economy until January 27, 1941. The division was transferred in February to Pont-à-Mousson, France, for occupation duty and training and in July 1941 to Jaroslaw, Poland, to participate in the Russian campaign in the southern sector. It marched to Lvov, Ternopol, Vinnitsa, and Kalinovka, and was engaged in offensive operations from Kanev to the Kramatorsk and Artemovsk areas. It fought in defensive and position warfare during the winter of 1941-42 east of Artemovsk, where it suffered heavy losses. Although no records of the division dated later than March 31, 1942, are available, situation maps of Lage Ost, Frankreich, Italien und Balkan show that it defended the Artemovsk area from April to June 1942. In July it began offensive movements toward Stalingrad via Konstantinovskaya and took part in the battle for Stalingrad from August 1942 until destroyed in January 1943. In April and May 1943 the division was re-formed in the Lorient area of France and guarded the west coast of France until August 1943. It then was transferred to Itri, Italy, and in October advanced to Cassino. The division participated in position defense in the Formia area from November 1943 to June 1944, when it withdrew to defend the Perugia area until the latter part of July. In August and September the division was refitted in the Udine area (according to OCMH manuscript D-356 by Obstlt. Alfred-Johannes Mueller). In October 1944 it was reassigned to the front and defended the area north of Vergato until April 1945, when it withdrew to Verona.

96. Infanterie-Division (96th Infantry Division)

The 96. Infanterie-Division (5. Welle) was formed on September 21, 1939, in Wehrkreis XI, and received its training in the Truppenübungsplatz Bergen. On November 4, 1939, it was transferred to Maulbronn, near Pforzheim, for further training. Between May 15 and June 25, 1940, the division marched through Bad Dürkheim, Kaiserslautern, Birkenfeld, Echternach in Luxembourg, through Belgium, to Laon, Villiers-sur-Marne, and Bourges on the Cher River in France when hostilities ceased. During the period July 1 - 25, 1940, it marched via Nancy to St.Wendel for entraining and movement to Bergen, its home station, where personnel were given leave to work in the national economy. Personnel were recalled between February 1 and 6, 1941, entrained in Einbeck, and moved to Charleville, France, for occupation duty and training. In June 1941 the division was transferred from France to Suwalki, Poland, to participate in the Russian campaign in the northern sector. After arrival and detraining in Suwalki, July 3-5, the division marched through Vilna, Disna, Gorodok, and Soltsy, and fought in offensive operations from Shimsk north to Petrokrepost where it was continuously engaged in position defense from September 1941 to December 1942. It suffered heavy losses during this period and was subsequently relieved of frontline duties and reorganized. The division was engaged in Operation "Flaschenhals" (German attempt to counter the Russian winter offensive, January 12, 1943, against the corridor south of Lake Ladoga between Petrokrepost and Mga). Later it was transferred to the Tigoda and Volkhov Rivers, east of Tigoda, for defensive operations, where it again suffered heavy losses, but remained in this area until September 1943. Although no records of this division dated later than September 30, 1943, are available, situation maps of Heeresgruppen Nord and Süd show it participated in position defense in the area east of Chudovo from October to December 1943. The division was transferred to the southern sector in January 1944, taking part in defensive engagements as it withdrew from Polonnoye to Nove Zamky via Kamenets Podolski, Chortkov, Ternopol, Lvov, and Krosno from January to December 1944, and from southern Slovakia to Hollabrunn in Lower Austria from January to April 28, 1945.

SUGGESTIONS FOR CITING MICROFILM OF CAPTURED GERMAN AND RELATED RECORDS IN THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES OF THE UNITED STATES

The National Archives and Records Service is frequently asked to provide recommendations regarding information to be included in footnotes or other references to records among its holdings. The following suggestions should serve this purpose and also help our staff in locating the records thus cited.

Records

Because of the great variety and complexity of some archival material, there are no convenient models that would be applicable to all records. The initial citation, however, might consist of those of the following elements applicable in each instance: item, file unit, or subseries, series title, originating office (and the administrative units of which that office is a part) name of collection or record group number and title, and depository. Except for placing the cited item first, there is no general agreement on the sequence of the remaining elements in the citation. Publishers, professional journals, and graduate faculties all prescribe their own style. Whatever sequence is adopted, however, should be used consistently throughout the same work. If in doubt, the researcher should confer with an archivist regarding elements that may be necessary to identify adequately specific records being cited.

Microfilm Publications

Citation to records reproduced in National Archives microfilm publications should provide, in general, the same information as suggested above, but with sufficient additional information to identify the particular microfilm publication as well as roll and frame numbers, if applicable.

Microfilm publications of foreign records seized during World War II involve such peculiarities of identification that largely individualized suggested systems of citation have been developed for them. The following examples suggest both a form of initial citation and of subsequent citations of the same document for each of five major microfilm projects reproducing captured German and related records; the form for the bibliography, which is not illustrated below, could be some appropriate modification of the initial citation, but should also include the National Archives record group title and number, i.e., National Archives Collection of World War II War Crimes Records (Nuernberg), Record Group 238, and the number of the microfilm publication; or National Archives Collection of Foreign Records Seized 1941- , Record Group 242, and the number of the microfilm publication.

The serial number is the essential identification, whether the serial is of the interchangeable unlettered or H serials, or of the B,C,F,K,L and M serials. The terms reel, container or roll are acceptable variations, with the last preferred by the National Archives. With the Tripartite Project microfilm, National Archives Microfilm Publication T120, it is imperative to distinguish between serial and roll numbers, and the Catalog of Files and Microfilm of the German Foreign Ministry Archives, 1920-1945, 4 vols., has as a supplement to each volume, a National Archives serial-roll conversion list. The Public Records Office in London uses the same serial and frame numbers, although not always the same roll numbers, and the microfilm publication symbols GFM 2-5 instead of T120, to identify the Tripartite Project microfilm. The other Whaddon Hall microfilm projects use the same number for serial and roll, as the SA (Saint Antony's College project) serial example, given above, indicates; the National Archives has substituted microfilm publication number for project symbols.

Subsequent citations:
PG 64856, T1022/650.
PG number is the essential record item number; either the TA number or the T1022 roll number is sufficient microfilm identification. There are no frame numbers in this microfilm publication.

Microfilm copies of one or more rolls of the microfilm may be purchased at the prices listed below. Orders from purchasers in the United States, United States possessions, Canada, and Mexico will be sent without a charge for postage or shipping. Small orders from other foreign purchasers will be sent without a charge for postage. Orders from other foreign purchasers for more than 40 rolls of microfilm will be subject to an additional charge of 5% for shipping.

Checks or money orders for microfilm should accompany the order. They should be made payable to the General Services Administration (NATS) and should be sent to the Cashier, NARS, GSA, Washington, DC 20408. Persons ordering microfilm from outside the United States or its possessions should make their remittance by international money order or check drawn in United States dollars on a bank in the United States and payable to the General Services Administration (NATS). Each order should specify Microfilm Publication T315, the roll number or numbers, and the price.

This finding aid has been prepared by the National Archives as part of its program of facilitating the use of records in its custody.

The microfilm described in this guide may be consulted at the National Archives, where it is identified as Microfilm Publication T315. Those desiring to purchase microfilm should write to the Publications Sales Branch (NATS), National Archives (GSA), Washington, DC 20408.

Some of the papers reproduced on the microfilm referred to in this and other guides of the same series may have been of private origin. The fact of their seizure is not believed to divest their original owners of any literary property rights in them. Anyone, therefore, who publishes them in whole or in part without permission of their authors may be held liable for infringement of such literary property rights.

INTRODUCTION

The Guides to German Records Microfilmed at Alexandria, Va. constitute a series of finding aids to National Archives microfilm of seized records of German central, regional, and local government agencies, and of military commands and units, as well as of the Nazi Party, its formations, affiliated associations, and supervised organizations. The records described in the guides were created generally during the period from 1920 to 1945.

The guide series was initiated by the microfilming project of the Committee for the Study of War Documents of the American Historical Association in cooperation with the National Archives and the Department of the Army. With the termination of AHA participation in July 1963, the National Archives assumed sole responsibility for the reproduction of records and the preparation of guides.

This guide is one of many in the series describing the records of the German Army field commands which have been arranged by unit and filmed in discrete microfilm publications according to their military echelon as follows: Army Groups (Microfilm Publication T311), Armies (T312), Panzer Armies (T313), Corps (T314), Divisions (T315), and Rear Areas, Occupied Territories and Others (T501).

Guide No. 66 (designated Part VI of the Guides to German Army Divisions--Parts I-V being Guides 41, 45, and 63-65) describes the records of divisions numbered 97 through 114 reproduced on 126 rolls of Microfilm Publication T315. Future guides will describe records of divisions numbered above 114. Most of the records in Guide No. 66 concern the German campaign against the Soviet Union from 1941 to 1945. The records also document the formation and training of most of the divisions covered in the guide and contain material on the western campaign in 1940, occupation duty and coastal security in France, 1941-43, the Balkan campaign in 1941, antipartisan activity and occupation duty in Yugoslavia, Albania, and Greece, 1943, and the campaign in Italy, 1944-45.

The INDEX to Guide No. 66, which can be found immediately following the instructions for its use on page 121, is the first furnished for any guide in this series. The master copy for this index was sorted and produced by computer from the same input as the descriptive material in the guide text, for which the master copy was also computer-formated and printed. The full edition was then reproduced from these master copies by the direct image photographic process.

The provenance to which each record item is attributed is the unit headquarters that created or filed it, although a large proportion of the items had in fact already been retired to depositories of the Heeresarchiv Potsdam. There accession numbers were assigned and stamped or written on the covers in the order received, and the records were then cataloged by unit. By the time the records reached the United States, they were also in rough arrangement by unit. The National Archives has retained this system inherited from its various American predecessor organizations, taking advantage of the circumstance that the original Potsdam catalogs were acquired along with the seized field command records. The AHA and National Archives also followed this arrangement in their joint and separate microfilm projects, but some record items were filmed out of sequence because of subsequent declassification or the discovery of previously mislaid or temporarily unavailable material, which accounts for the occasional break in continuity of roll numbers in the guides. Record items not yet retired to the Heeresarchiv depositories at the time of capture were assigned accession numbers above 75,000 by American custodians in extension of the original Potsdam numbering scheme.

Considerable information on the fate of German military archives during World War II, including documentation of efforts to reconstruct records destroyed in several wartime fires, may be found in the files of the Chef des Heeresarchivs, OKH, filmed as Microfilm Publication T78, rolls 1-38 and described in Guide No. 12 of this series.

Although the records of these divisions have been filmed selectively, the war journals (Kriegstagebuecher) and activity reports

(Taetigkeitsberichte) and their annexes (Anlagen) of the operations (Ia) and intelligence (Ic) staff sections, wherever available, were filmed in entirety. A few records of the supply, administrative, medical, personnel, and judge advocate staff sections assigned to division headquarters were filmed for those units whose operations and intelligence files were incomplete or missing. Map annexes (Kartenanlagen) consisting exclusively of large maps difficult to put on microfilm were generally omitted; maps interspersed among and integrated with the textual records were filmed in several overlapping sections, which, along with the loss of color markings, detracts considerably from their value and ease of use.

A unit history in tabular form precedes the file item listing for each division. The unit histories are based on information found in the records, in the Potsdam catalog, and on contemporary German daily situation maps. They supplement or correct the brief histories, based on the Order of Battle of the German Army (War Department, Washington, March 1945, filmed at the beginning of every roll reproducing the records of each unit. A data card describing each filmed record item was reproduced immediately preceding the folder it.describes, and the cards for all folders on one roll of film are again filmed as a finding aid at the beginning of that roll. The information contained on these cards was used as a reference in compiling descriptive entries for the guide, but considerable revision was undertaken because so many of these card descriptions were prepared hastily to maintain pace with filming and restitution schedules.

The term "Roll" in the guide refers to the sequence of the film; "1st Frame" gives the frame number of the first page of the folder; "Item No." is the identification symbol on the original folder. The "Item" provides (a) the abbreviation of the staff section that originated the document, (b) the title appearing on the folder cover, and (c) additional information providing a general description of the contents. The inclusive dates of the file item are given under a "Dates" column.

The original records, filmed and unfilmed, have been returned to the Federal Republic of Germany for deposit in the Bundesarchiv-Militaerarchiv in Freiburg. The master negatives of Microfilm Publication T315 have been deposited with the Publications Sales Branch (NATS), National Archives (GSA), Washington, DC 20408, from which copies of specific rolls may be purchased. Reference copies may be consulted in the microfilm reading room of the National Archives. For suggestions for citing microfilm, see page xiv.

The descriptions in this guide Guide were prepared by Anton F. Grassl and Johanna M. Wagner, who also prepared the input data for the computer. The computer-input scheme, a modification of the SPINDEX program, was devised by the undersigned in collaboration with John Butler, and Guthrie Meade was programmer-analyst.

SUGGESTIONS FOR CITING MICROFILM OF CAPTURED GERMAN AND RELATED RECORDS IN THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES OF THE UNITED STATES

The National Archives and Records Service is frequently asked to provide recommendations regarding information to be included in footnotes or other references to records among its holdings. The following suggestions should serve this purpose and also help our staff in locating the records thus cited.

Records

Because of the great variety and complexity of some archival material, there are no convenient models that would be applicable to all records. The initial citation, however, might consist of those of the following elements applicable in each instance: item, file unit, or subseries, series title, originating office (and the administrative units of which that office is a part) name of collection or record group number and title, and depository. Except for placing the cited item first, there is no general agreement on the sequence of the remaining elements in the citation. Publishers, professional journals, and graduate faculties all prescribe their own style. Whatever sequence is adopted, however, should be used consistently throughout the same work. If in doubt, the researcher should confer with an archivist regarding elements that may be necessary to identify adequately specific records being cited.

Microfilm Publications

Citation to records reproduced in National Archives microfilm publications should provide, in general, the same information as suggested above, but with sufficient additional information to identify the particular microfilm publication as well as roll and frame numbers, if applicable.

Microfilm publications of foreign records seized during World War II involve such peculiarities of identification that largely individualized suggested systems of citation have been developed for them. The following examples suggest both a form of initial citation and of subsequent citations of the same document for each of five major microfilm projects reproducing captured German and related records; the form for the bibliography, which is not illustrated below, could be some appropriate modification of the initial citation, but should also include the National Archives record group title and number, i.e., National Archives Collection of World War II War Crimes Records (Nuernberg), Record Group 238, and the number of the microfilm publication; or National Archives Collection of Foreign Records Seized 1941- , Record Group 242, and the number of the microfilm publication.

1. Captured records microfilmed at Alexandria, Virginia.
   Initial citation:

   Subsequent citations:
      Ereignismeldung UdSSR, Nr. 194, T175/235/2724209-10.
   Initial citation:
      I. AK, Ia, "KTB Nr. 2," Aug.-Oct. 1939, E201/1, National Archives Microfilm Publication T314, roll 34, first frame 389.
   Subsequent citations:
      KTB 2, Aug 17, 1939, T314/34/397.
      Item numbers such as EAP 173-a-10/22a, or OKW 1015 are optional and serial numbers unnecessary. Frames are sometimes unnumbered.

2. Foreign Ministry Archives and records of the Reichskanzlei filmed at Whaddon Hall.
   Initial citation:
      Ambassador in Madrid (Stohrer) to Foreign Ministry, Berlin, Dec. 9, 1940, German Foreign Ministry Archives, Serial 136, frames D674515-516; National Archives Microfilm Publication T120, roll 146.

Subsequent citations:

Stohrer to GFM, 136/D674516, T120/146.

Initial citation:

"Verwaltung besetzter Gebiete in Serbien, 15.11.16-31.7.17," SA Reel 83, National Archives Microfilm Publication T136, roll 83, frames 17-24.

Subsequent citations:

SA/T136/83/19.

The serial number is the essential identification, whether the serial is of the interchangeable unlettered or H serials, or of the B,C,F,K,L and M serials. The terms reel, container or roll are acceptable variations, with the last preferred by the National Archives. With the Tripartite Project microfilm, National Archives Microfilm Publication T120, it is imperative to distinguish between serial and roll numbers, and the Catalog of Files and Microfilm of the German Foreign Ministry Archives, 1920-1945, 4 vols., has as a supplement to each volume, a National Archives serial-roll conversion list. The Public Records Office in London uses the same serial and frame numbers, although not always the same roll numbers, and the microfilm publication symbols GFM 2-5 instead of T120, to identify the Tripartite Project microfilm. The other Whaddon Hall microfilm projects use the same number for serial and roll, as the SA (Saint Antony's College project) serial example, given above, indicates; the National Archives has substituted microfilm publication number for project symbols.

3. Records from the German Naval Archives microfilmed for the United States Navy at the Admiralty, London.

Initial citation:

"Luftschiffangriff auf England, 19-20.10.1917," Az. Kr. Op. Nordsee, 97, PG 64856, TA-108D, National Archives Microfilm Publication T1022, roll 650.

Subsequent citations:

PG 64856, T1022/650.

PG number is the essential record item number; either the TA number or the T1022 roll number is sufficient microfilm identification. There are no frame numbers in this microfilm publication.

4. Heeresarchiv Potsdam records microfilmed at the National Archives.

Initial citation:

Groener to Alarich von Gleich, Papers of General Wilhelm Groener (Groener Nachlass) at the Bundesarchiv Koblenz, National Archives Microfilm Publication M137, roll 7.

Subsequent citations:

Groener to Gleich, M137/7.

5. National Archives microfilm of Nuernberg War Crimes Trial Records.

Initial citation:

OB Suedost to HGr E, "Operation Kreuzotter," 13 Aug 1944, item NOKW-039, National Archives Microfilm Publication T1119, roll 2, frames 17-19.

Subsequent citations:

OB Suedost to HGr E, 13 Aug 44, T1119/2/17.

The National Archives and Records Service will appreciate receiving copies of books and articles based in whole or in part on records in its custody. Such copies should be directed to the Library, NARS, GSA, Washington, DC 20408.

INDEX

This index was derived by computer from the same data input used to produce the descriptive material in the foregoing text of the guide. The ultimate objective of producing cumulative indexes dictated certain limitations on the format, structure, and nature; further complications were created by the need to cope simultaneously with two languages, abbreviations, page location of descriptive materials, and microfilm roll and frame locations of the records described.

Format

Economy of space and ease of reading seem sufficient justification for the asymmetry of the broad horizontal layout of the descriptive text of the guide and the narrow vertical format of the index.

Language

While the index does not pretend to bilinguality, it refers to the records in their original German terminology as well as in generally accepted English equivalents, using the original German word or its abbreviation as the index term and the English word as a cross-reference term. For purposes of automation, the diphthong was used instead of the Umlaut, so that Büffel becomes Bueffel, for example.

Geographical Terms

Geographical terms are mainly rendered in the native language, but for transliteration from the Cyrillic alphabet the English rendition found in the NIS (National Intelligence Survey) Gazetteer (Office of Geography, Department of the Interior, Washington, 1955-64) was used, rather than the German-language transliteration found in the records.

Cross-References

In order to take advantage of the cumulative and repetitive capabilities of automatic data processing in compiling future individual and multiple guide indexes, cross-references of broad or universal application were preferred, although this sometimes results in general references to types of entries for which there may be no specific examples in the index of a particular guide; e.g., MOUNTAIN UNITS, GERMAN, gives cross-references to index headings under which _all_ echelons of such units may be found, but there is no specific entry in this index for the only German mountain army, AOK 20 GEB; another example: LUXEMBOURG is followed by a see also reference to specific populated places and geographical terms, although there are no specific Luxembourgian places or terms listed in this index.

Units and Commands

In order not to encumber the index with nearly 600 additional entries, the records of the divisions described in this guide were not listed separately under the division number. Instead there is only a reference to the first page of the unit history, which lists all of the rolls on which that unit's records are reproduced, and which is followed immediately by an item-by-item listing of such records.

All of the field command unit designations are indexed in official or recognizable German abbreviations, with the exception of the corps, where infantry, armored, mountain, and special corps are all grouped under the prefix AK (Armeekorps), followed by the specific unit name or number and a suffix denoting the type. Since the computer sorts Roman numerals alphabetically rather than numerically, the conventional German sequence for a corps designation was reversed and the number converted to Arabic, e.g., XVIII AK becomes AK 18. The "Item No." for all field command record items is a combination of the last designation of the provenance unit with the accession number assigned during World War II by the Heeresarchiv Potsdam.

Suggestions for Improvement

Since automatic data processing is especially efficient for updating or revising data, we hope gradually to evolve improved computer indexes for archival material, an indexing art still very much in its infancy. The preparation of individual indexes for subsequent Alexandria guides will hopefully be a proving ground for revising and indexing the entire series, and suggestions for improvement are invited. A possible and desirable byproduct of such a revision would be an open-ended edition, of which individual guides or the entire series would be available to all at reasonable prices.

Price List for Records of German Field Commands: Divisions (Part VI) (Divisions 97-114)

National Archives Microfilm Publication T315, Rolls 1185-1297 and 2355-2367

Microfilm copies of one or more rolls of the microfilm may be purchased at the prices listed below. These prices include postage or shipping costs on orders to addresses within the United States or sent to Mexico or Canada and on small orders sent to other countries. Orders of more than 40 rolls sent to foreign countries other than Canada and Mexico are subject to an added 5% shipping charge.

Checks or money orders for microfilm should accompany the order. They should be made payable to the General Services Administration (NATS) and should be sent to the Cashier, NARS, GSA, Washington, DC 20408. Persons ordering microfilm from outside the United States or its possessions should make their remittance by international money order or check drawn in United States dollars on a bank in the United States and payable to the General Services Administration (NATS). Each order should specify Microfilm Publication T315, the roll number or numbers, and the price.

This finding aid has been prepared by the National Archives as part of its program of facilitating the use of records in its custody.

The microfilm described in this guide may be consulted at the National Archives, where it is identified as Microfilm Publication T315. Those desiring to purchase microfilm should write to the Publications Sales Branch (NEPS), National Archives (GSA), Washington, DC 20408.

Some of the papers reproduced on the microfilm referred to in this and other guides of the same series may have been of private origin. The fact of their seizure is not believed to divest their original owners of any literary property rights in them. Anyone, therefore, who publishes them in whole or in part without permission of their authors may be held liable for infringement of such literary property rights.

INTRODUCTION

The Guides to German Records Microfilmed at Alexandria, Va. constitute a series of finding aids to National Archives microfilm of seized records of German central, regional, and local government agencies and of military commands and units, as well as of the Nazi Party, its formations, affiliated associations, and supervised organizations. The records described in the guides were created generally during the period 1920-45.

The guide series was initiated by the microfilming project of the Committee for the Study of War Documents of the American Historical Association (AHA) in cooperation with the National Archives and the Department of the Army. With the termination of AHA participation in July 1963, the National Archives assumed sole responsibility for the reproduction of records and the preparation of guides.

This guide is one of many in the series describing the records of the German Army field commands that have been arranged by unit and filmed in discrete microfilm publications according to their military echelon as follows: Army Groups (Microfilm Publication T311), Armies (T312), Panzer Armies (T313), Corps (T314), Divisions (T315), and Rear Areas, Occupied Territories, and Others (T501).

Guide No. 67 (designated Part VII of the Guides to German Army Divisions--Parts I-VI being Guides 41, 45, and 63-66) describes the records of divisions numbered 116 through 137 reproduced on 136 rolls of Microfilm Publication T315. The records in Guide No. 67 contain material on the campaign in Yugoslavia in 1941; the campaign against the Soviet Union, 1941-43; antipartisan operations and occupation duty in Greece, 1943; defensive engagements in Yugoslavia, 1944; and the western campaign in France, Belgium, and Germany, 1944-45.

The INDEX to Guide No. 67 can be found immediately following the instructions for its use on page 126. The master copy for this index was computer formated and printed from terms input simultaneously with the descriptive material in the text of the guide, and was supplemented with references, cross-references, and explanatory subheadings. The full edition was then reproduced from the master copies by photographic offset printing.

The provenance to which each record item is attributed is the unit headquarters that created or filed it, although a large proportion of the items had in fact already been retired to depositories of the Heeresarchiv Potsdam, where accession numbers were assigned and stamped or written on the covers in the order received, and where the records were then cataloged by unit. The records reached the United States still roughly arranged by unit, since Allied intelligence officers retained this system, taking advantage of the circumstance that the original Potsdam catalogs were acquired along with the seized field command records. The AHA and the National Archives also followed this arrangement in their joint and separate microfilm projects, although some record items appear out of sequence because they were still classified or temporarily unavailable at the time the unit records were filmed. This also accounts for the occasional break in continuity of roll numbers in the guides where those unit records filmed later on higher roll numbers appear out of item number sequence at the end of the division entries. Record items not yet retired to the Heeresarchiv depositories at the time of capture were assigned accession numbers above 75,000 by American custodians in extension of the original Potsdam numbering scheme.

Considerable information on the fate of German military archives during World War II, including documentation of efforts to reconstruct records destroyed in several wartime fires, may be found in the files of the Chef des Heeresarchivs, OKH, filmed as Microfilm Publication T78, rolls 1-38, and described in Guide No. 12 of this series.

Although the records of these divisions have been filmed selectively, the war journals (Kriegstagebuecher) and activity reports (Taetigkeitsberichte) and their annexes (Anlagen) of the operations (Ia) and intelligence (Ic) staff sections, wherever available, were filmed in their entirety. A few records of the supply, administrative, medical, personnel, and judge advocate staff sections assigned to division headquarters were filmed for those units whose operations and intelligence files were incomplete or missing. Map annexes (Kartenanlagen), consisting exclusively of large maps difficult to put on microfilm, were generally omitted; maps interspersed among and integrated with the textual records were filmed in several overlapping sections, which, along with the loss of color markings, detracts considerably from their value and ease of use.

A unit history in tabular form precedes the file item listing for each division. The DATE column gives the opening date or first date on a pertinent document for the LOCATION and ACTIVITY given in the next two columns, and the timespan extends to the next date given. The CHAIN OF COMMAND column gives the names of the commanding officers and superior units, with timespans for each, where available.

These unit histories are based on information found in the records, in the Potsdam catalog, on contemporary German daily situation maps, and in manuscripts of the Foreign Military Studies series. They supplement or correct the brief histories, based on the Order of Battle of the German Army (War Department, Washington, D.C., March 1945) which were filmed at the beginning of every roll reproducing the records of each unit. A data card describing each record item was also microfilmed immediately preceding the folder it describes, and the cards for all folders on one roll of film were again filmed as a finding aid at the beginning of that roll. The information contained on these cards was used as a reference in compiling descriptive entries for the guide, but considerable revision was undertaken because so many of these card descriptions were prepared hastily to keep pace with the filming and restitution schedules.

The CONTENTS column on the pages containing records descriptions provides (a) the abbreviation of the staff section that originated the document, (b) the title appearing on the folder cover, and (c) additional information providing a general description of the contents. The inclusive dates of the file item are given under a DATE column; the ITEM NO. is the identification symbol given on the original folder; the ROLL refers to the sequence of the film in Microfilm Publication T315; and 1ST FRAME gives the frame number of the first page of the file item.

The original records, filmed and unfilmed, have been returned to the Federal Republic of Germany for deposit in the Bundesarchiv-Militaerarchiv in Freiburg. The master negatives of Microfilm Publication T315 have been deposited with the Publications Sales Branch (NEPS), National Archives (GSA), Washington, DC 20408, from which copies of specific rolls may be purchased. Reference copies may be consulted in the microfilm reading room of the National Archives. For suggestions for citing microfilm, see page xiv.

The descriptions in this guide were prepared by Anton F. Grassl and Johanna M. Wagner under the supervision of Donald E. Spencer. Mrs. Wagner also prepared the input data for the computer. Guthrie T. Meade and Edward D. Thomas of GSA functioned successively as programmer-analysts. The computer-input scheme, a modification of the SPINDEX program, was devised by the undersigned.

SUGGESTIONS FOR CITING MICROFILM OF CAPTURED GERMAN AND RELATED RECORDS IN THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES OF THE UNITED STATES

The National Archives and Records Service is frequently asked to provide recommendations regarding information to be included in footnotes or other references to records among its holdings. The following suggestions should serve this purpose and also help our staff in locating the records thus cited.

Records

Because of the great variety and complexity of some archival material, there are no convenient models that would be applicable to all records. The initial citation, however, might consist of those of the following elements applicable in each instance: item, file unit, or subseries, series title, originating office (and the administrative units of which that office is a part) name of collection or record group number and title, and depository. Except for placing the cited item first, there is no general agreement on the sequence of the remaining elements in the citation. Publishers, professional journals, and graduate faculties all prescribe their own style. Whatever sequence is adopted, however, should be used consistently throughout the same work. If in doubt, the researcher should confer with an archivist regarding elements that may be necessary to identify adequately specific records being cited.

Microfilm Publications

Citation to records reproduced in National Archives microfilm publications should provide, in general, the same information as suggested above, but with sufficient additional information to identify the particular microfilm publication as well as roll and frame numbers, if applicable.

Microfilm publications of foreign records seized during World War II involve such peculiarities of identification that largely individualized suggested systems of citation have been developed for them. The following examples suggest both a form of initial citation and of subsequent citations of the same document for each of five major microfilm projects reproducing captured German and related records; the form for the bibliography, which is not illustrated below, could be some appropriate modification of the initial citation, but should also include the National Archives record group title and number, and the title and number of the microfilm publication, e.g., National Archives Collection of World War II War Crimes Records (Nuernberg), Record Group 238, U.S. v. Otto Ohlendorf, et al., Microfilm Publication M895, 38 rolls; National Archives Collection of Foreign Records Seized 1941-   , Record Group 242, Records of the Reich Ministry of Economics, Microfilm Publication T71, 148 rolls.

1. Captured records microfilmed at Alexandria, Virginia.
   Initial citation:
      CdS/Amt IVA1, Ereignismeldung UdSSR, Nr. 194, 20. April 1942, EAP 173-a-10/22a, National Archives Microfilm Publication T175, roll 235, frames 2724202-268.
   Subsequent citations:
      Ereignismeldung UdSSR, Nr. 194, T175/235/2724209-10.
   Initial citation:
      I. AK, Ia, "KTB Nr. 2," Aug.-Oct. 1939, E201/1, National Archives Microfilm Publication T314, roll 34, first frame 389.
   Subsequent citations:
      KTB 2, Aug 17, 1939, T314/34/397.
      Item numbers such as EAP 173-a-10/22a, or OKW 1015 are optional and serial numbers unnecessary. Frames are sometimes unnumbered.

2. Foreign Ministry Archives and records of the Reichskanzlei filmed at Whaddon Hall.

Initial citation:

Ambassador in Madrid (Stohrer) to Foreign Ministry, Berlin, Dec. 9, 1940, German Foreign Ministry Archives, Serial 136, frames D674515-516; National Archives Microfilm Publication T120, roll 146.

Subsequent citations:

Stohrer to GFM, 136/D674516, T120/146.

Initial citation:

"Verwaltung besetzter Gebiete in Serbien, 15.11.16-31.7.17," SA Reel 83, National Archives Microfilm Publication T136, roll 83, frames 17-24.

Subsequent citations:

SA/T136/83/19.

The serial number is the essential identification, whether the serial is of the interchangeable unlettered or H serials, or of the B,C,F,K,L and M serials. The terms reel, container or roll are acceptable variations, with the last preferred by the National Archives. With the Tripartite Project microfilm, National Archives Microfilm Publication T120, it is imperative to distinguish between serial and roll numbers, and the Catalog of Files and Microfilm of the German Foreign Ministry Archives, 1920-1945, 4 vols., has as a supplement to each volume, a National Archives serial-roll conversion list. The Public Records Office in London uses the same serial and frame numbers, although not always the same roll numbers, and the microfilm publication symbols GFM 2-5 instead of T120, to identify the Tripartite Project microfilm. The other Whaddon Hall microfilm projects use the same number for serial and roll, as the SA (Saint Antony's College project) serial example, given above, indicates; the National Archives has substituted microfilm publication number for project symbols.

3. Records from the German Naval Archives microfilmed for the United States Navy at the Admiralty, London.

Initial citation:

"Luftschiffangriff auf England, 19-20.10.1917," Az. Kr. Op. Nordsee, 97, PG 64856, TA-108D, National Archives Microfilm Publication T1022, roll 650.

Subsequent citations:

PG 64856, T1022/650.

PG number is the essential record item number; either the TA number or the T1022 roll number is sufficient microfilm identification. There are no frame numbers in this microfilm publication.

4. Heeresarchiv Potsdam records microfilmed at the National Archives.

Initial citation:

Groener to Alarich von Gleich, Papers of General Wilhelm Groener (Groener Nachlass) at the Bundesarchiv Koblenz, National Archives Microfilm Publication M137, roll 7.

Subsequent citations:

5. National Archives microfilm of Nuernberg War Crimes Trial Records.
   Initial citation:
      OB Suedost to HGr E, "Operation Kreuzotter," 13 Aug 1944, item NOKW-089, National Archives Microfilm Publication T1119, roll 2, frames 17-19.
   Subsequent citations:
      OB Suedost to HGr E, 13 Aug 44, T1119/2/17
   Initial citation:
      Indictment, United States of America v. Otto Ohlendorf, et al. (Case 9), Transcript of Proceedings, Sep 15, 1947, vol. 1, p. 4, National Archives Microfilm Publication M895, roll 2, frame 0005.
   Subsequent citations:
      Case 12, Transcript, Sep 15, 1947, vol. 1, p. 9, M895/2/0010.

The National Archives and Records Service will appreciate receiving copies of books and articles based in whole or in part on records in its custody. Such copies should be directed to the Library, NARS, GSA, Washington, DC 20408.
